HINTS ABOUT REMONSTRANCES.

We clip the following pertinent suggestions concerning the most effective mode of remonstrating against the granting of liquor licenses, from the Altoona Tribune's able editoral on that subject. The writer further remarks that even if the remonstrances should prove fruitless the remonstrants will be free from any moral responsibility concerning the matter.

"It would not be a bad idea for the temperance people to form an organization and begin the work of collecting evidence at once. They know the names of a good many intended applicants. Why put off the work of preparation until the publication of the list? The more time is given to this work the more effective is it likely to be. Evidence may be accumulated concerning the home. Where is it located? How many rooms does it contain? What is the size of the applicant's family? Has he any permanent boarders? If so, how many? Is it sought out by travelers? The applicant should also be considered. Is he a person of good moral character? Is he qualified to run a hotel? Has he obeyed the law during the year? In order to have weight with the court the remonstrants must present facts concerning the house or the applicant. Mere assertion will not do. A special effort should be made to have the remonstrances well signed. It should be remembered that the applicant starts with twelve sworn vouchers. If the remonstrance contain only a score of names, or less, and is swamped by a counter petition of a hundred names we have no right to ask the court to refuse the license. The weight of the evidence is in favor of the applicant. Some people are very anxious that no license should be granted in their vicinity, but they refuse to sign a remonstrance. Then if the application is granted they abuse the court. This is grossly unfair. If we have not the courage to defend our own interests or to inform the court we should not blame the judge for our cowardice."

ANOTHER BIG COAL OPERATION.

Messrs. Thomas and John Barnes, the extensive coal operators of this place, have secured an option on the lower vein under the Steiner estate at Chester Hill, and are sinking a test shaft on the Centre county side, near the King property, with a view of ascertaining the slope of the vein, quality and thickness of the coal, etc. If everything proves satisfactory, Messrs. Barnes will sink a permanent shaft on the Clearfield side, near Wigton's fire brick works. Diamond drill tests have already been made and the cores show a fine seam of coal, but Mr. Barnes wishes to satisfy himself beyond question before he closes the lease. He believes, judging from the test holes and from the splendid success of Wigton's shaft at Morris dale, that the coal is there in good shape, fine quality and large quantities, but the preliminary shaft will show more fully.

The opening of such a large operation practically in the heart of the community will be a great thing for Philipsburg in every way, and if it is successful will be followed by the leasing of the lower vein in all directions, which will give our town such a boom that neighboring towns will gnash their teeth in envy.

The Wigton shaft is one of the most glowing successes in the history of bituminous coal mining. The coal is of a quality fully equal to Moshannon and is in such demand that it cannot be produced fast enough. The output is now approaching 1,000 tons a day. Every property owner in the Philipsburg region owes Mr. W. H. Wigton a debt of gratitude for his courage in tackling the lower vein. It cost a fortune and if the experiment had proved a failure it no doubt would have swamped the bold young operator. But the result proved the excellence of his judgment and settled the practicability of working the lower vein. William you can have the earth if you want it.—Philipsburg Ledger.

HASTINGS.

The Philadelphia Inquirer of last Thursday in speaking of the governorship nomination says:

The Governorship question is forced to the front by the determination of the Republican State Committee to call an early convention. May 23 is the date fixed upon—somewhat earlier than usual, but none too early for this important year when every Republican is aroused to the danger of an unstrained Democratic administration in Washington.

Fortunately there are no bickerings or discords apparent anywhere. Mr. Grow was nominated yesterday by acclamation. It would not be surprising if General Hastings should be nominated for Governor in the same manner. The only counties that have so far expressed an opinion on the Governorship—four of them—have elected Hastings delegates. Philadelphia will hold her primaries next week, and it is pretty well understood that the sentiment is such that General Hastings will be given the support of the city. Allegheny county is for Hastings. That ought to settle the matter. Representative Stone has a strong following in the northwestern portion of the State, and deservedly so, but the drift is so unmistakably for Hastings that the chances are that when the convention meets there will be no other candidate, just there was no candidate aganist Grow.

Pennsylvania is looked to uphold Republicanism more strongly than ever before. The name of Hastings is a good one to go to the polls with.

THE WEEK OF PRAYER.

This week will be an active one in all Presbyterian churches, especially as they observe the week of prayer which for many years has proved so productive of good to the ingathering of those outside and increased spiritual activity to the membership.

In the depressions of business, the forced idleness of many who have been honest toilers such reverses have often proved blessings in disguise. As far back as the financial storm of 1837, that of 1857 and 1877, are on record reports of great revivals such as blessed thousands of homes where mony had failed. History repeats itself in the religious world as it does in the business and political world. Men and women who were too busy seeking wealth and pleasure, pending such a storm, have sought help from a higher source and gained what they otherwise would have never sought.

A short time ago a gentleman, who once was a person of large means, in a conversation said he could not sufficiently thank God for stripping him of his worldly possessions, and, to-day, he felt as if he exchanged wealth in dollars and cents for treasures, riches, permanent and so vitalizing that time would not lessen their value or sources of pleasure and profit.

In an age of such vast means of presenting Gospel truth, with church agencies so extended and diversified, the wonder is that religious power is so slow in gaining a foothold in all lands. The respect of the worldly and irreligious never was so much evidenced as in the present age. Men respect honest, sincere and zealous men and women. A public journal, therefore, that does not favor such efforts among their constituents, fails from a common sense stand point, from serving as an agent of good morals and good citizenship. The church builds up, never casts down; it helps in times of depression to impart hope. May the work of the week be advanced in all the churches thus engaged.

CLINTON COUNTY LICENSES.

His Honor, Judge A. C. Mayer, of Clinton county, has caused consternation among the hotel keepers by the way he is credited with slashing their applications. Out of a total of 68 applications only forty some were granted, fifteen less than last year. In Renovo seven were cut off and in Lock Haven six. Some of his friends give as an excuse that the Judge has seen the evil of too many licensed houses and made up his mind that some of the number must go, but others who profess to be on the "inside of things" assert that the Judge is only giving the hotel keepers a dose of their own medicine for flopping the democratic ticket last fall. Be that as it may there are a large number less licenses in Clinton county this year than there were last; and yet there is one license for every 500 population in the county.

While on the license question a Lock Haven special of recent date says: Judge Mayer has rendered an opinion concerning liquor license fees which is of interest all over the state. The city Treasurer of Lock Haven said that all the liquor license fees were paid to the County Treasurer, who got a large commission for handling the money, and he asked the Court to stop the practice. The Judge decided that only the liquor license money that belongs to the county shall be paid to the County Treasurer, and what belongs to the city shall be paid directly to the City Treasurer. This opinion deprives the County Treasurer of a snug source of revenue, and transfers it to the City Treasurer.

RELIC OF THE JOHNSTOWN FLOOD

From Saturday's Johnstown Tribune: Joseph Blyer, of Napoleon street, while digging yesterday in the river deposit near the stone bridge in search of relics, found a gold pin upon which was inscribed the name "Minnie Linton." Mr. Blyer last evening restored the pin to the unfortunate lady's relatives. It will be remembered that Miss Linton was drowned in the great flood from the residence of Mrs. Ogle, on Washington street, in which was located the Western Union telegraph company's office, she having spent the night previous to that calamity with Mrs. Ogle's daughter Minnie. Some time after a portion of the charred remains of Miss Linton were found near the stone bridge and identified by jewelry.

—Joshua Foulk is now hard at work trimming trees on Allegheny street.

EARMERS, WAKE UP.

Farmers should be as anxious to avoid losses on the farm as they are to make profits. A merchant who, by want of business tact, sells his goods for a price less than he might have done, has lost money, as he views it, and learns thereby to be more cautious and more wide awake in future operations. A farmer who raises a crop of a quarter to a half bale of cotton, 12 bushels of wheat, 10 of corn or 20 of oats per acre, when he might have doubled the yield by a better preparation of the ground and more thorough culture, or the outlay of a few dollars for fertilizers, rarely looks at it in this light, but charges the failure to "poor luck." So the farmer who cares badly for his stock, and by dint of starvation and exposure through winter succeeds in losing half his sheep, and reducing his cows to a condition of producing half a pound of butter a day, and brings his work stock out looking lean and gaunt and feeble, says he never has luck with his sheep, or his cows don't thrive, and his horses can never be kept in good condition, and he continues to move along contented in this dingy rut that leads only to poverty. But if he could only be brought to look at it in a proper light as a loss direct as though he burned a $10 bill, and equally as preventable, the road to improvement would be plain and easy to adopt. It is undoubted to those who have experience or observation that farmers generally make many and severe losses in this way and would they but learn to avoid them in the future, their profits might be largely increased and their position greatly improved. If the cost of thorough culture and manuring the soil sufficiently to raise what is called a good crop be carefully figured and compared with that which produces the ordinary crop, it will be seen the difference is not at all comparable to the excess in the value of the crops when gathered. In this State the general run of crops may be taken at 10 to 12 bushels of wheat, 18 to 20 of corn and 20 to 25 of oats, about one ton of hay and from 100 to 200 pounds of Dal cotton per acre. On the same ground, with good cultivation and a liberal application of fertilizers, the yield would be more than double, with the difference in cost of the fertilizers, a little extra plowing and extra harvesting, leaving a handsome profit as the result and quite sufficient to change a farmer's position from one of bare comfort and often of beggarly wants to that of affluence and independence, to say nothing of the manly satisfaction to be enjoyed. Wake up, farmers, and come to the front.—Age-Herald.

A NATIONAL APPEAL.

The American Protective Tariff League in special and extraordinary session on December 16th, responding to the earnest, request of wage earners, unanimously agreed that it was necessrry to call upon the press of the United States to urge every patriotic citizen to assist in defeating the proposed Wilson Free Trade Tarifl which is now before Congress. If this measure becomes a law, the demand for labor in all productive employments in this country will be decreased. This will reduce the wages and earnings of every man, woman or child among us, permanently lower the standard of living in this country; and reduce the purchasing power of our wage earners who constitute the great consuming force in this land.

Every person, rich or poor, high or low, old or young, who is not in favor of lower wages and less comfort in life, should at once write a postal card to the Congressman from his or her district, protesting against the passage of this bill and demanding that the McKinley Tariff be left unchanged. Write a postal card to-day, and urge every friend of yours to do the same. Perhaps your effort will defeat Free Trade and save Protection.

LIKE THESE, AND NOT LIKE.

A philosopher says: "There are three things which a good woman ought to resemble in one particular, but not in another. Thus she ought to be like a snail, which always keeps in the house, but she should not copy its example in putting all that she possessed on her back. She should resemble the echo, which never speaks unless spoken to, but she ought not, like the echo, always try to have the last word. Lastly she ought to be as true and correct as the town clock, but she ought not like the clock, make enough noise to be heard all over the town."

TWO ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Several hundred cats are maintained by the United States Government, and the cost of their support is a regular item on the accounts of the Post Offie Department They are distributed among the post office in the chief cities where they perform their duty of keeping rats and mice from destroying postal matter and mail sacks.

The Supreme Court of Iowa has decided that the owner of a dog is responsible in damages for injuries caused by the barking of the animal. A dog barked suddenly and viciously at a horse ridden on the public highway. The rider of the horse was, in consequence, thrown and injured, and, suing for damages, recovered from the owner of the dog. This judgment the Supreme Court of Iowa has affirmed.

HAIL! GALUSHA A. GROW.

Ex-Speaker Galusha A. Grow has been chosen by the Republicans of this State candidate for Representative at Large in Congress. This was a noble choice. Mr. Grow was first elected to the House to succeed David Wilmot forty-two years ago He was the Speaker in 1861—62. But by a single act of legislation, of which he was the author, Mr. Grow earned the everlasting graitude of his countrymen.

He is the father of the Homestead act. Over thirty years have passed away since this great law became a reality, and yet, go where one may in the Western States and Territories, one finds constant proof of its blessings. On the banks of the Missouri, in the vast forests of the Northwest, on the borders of Puget Sound and by the shores of our inland seas are the marks of its wondrous influences and the evidence of its magic power. The beneficent result of that great law cannot be measured by the boundary lines of the Republic.

It is one of the greatest acts that ever graced the pages of human legislation. The farms which it has created from the Blue Ridge to the Sierra Nevadas have been the homes of peace, plenty and progress. The happiness of their firesides has been an inspiration to freedom throughout the world. The prairie plowman recounts the blessing which it has showered upon his race, and the shepherd boy, in his lonely watch on the Colorado, chants the tollers' anthem of "Free Homes for Free Men."

The influence of ex-Speaker Grow's great work will live as long as the Republic survives. How fitting that Pennsylvania should honor him in his green and vigorous age!

GIVE READING A CHANCE.

With the re-election of the present Board of Managers of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, and with the sufficiently frank statement made of the company financial condition, it is time for the Reading controversy to end. Whatever the grounds for criticism or opposition, it has been shown that they relate to the past management of the road, and not to its conduct under the receivership.

The receivers have been criticised for accepting things as they found them, but no suggestion has been made that they are not now conducting the complicated affairs of the corporation with integrity and judgment. And herein obviously lies the only security for the Reading and the large interests dependent on it. Thrown back into the current of speculation, there is nothing possible but ruin; carefully nurtured under the protection of the receivership; the statement of the past year—a year of exceptiona depressionl that has carried many apparently strong roads into bankruptcy—shows that the Reading may be gradually, and even rapidly, brought to a sound basis.

This can only be done by honest business methods, free not only from inside speculation, but free from speculative attacks from outside the management. If the warring factions would but unite their efforts to build up the credit of the Reading system, instead of trying to tear it down, this desirable end would be the sooner reached.

ALL THINGS PASS AWAY.

To those of us who visited the World's Fair the story of last night's fire is ineffably sad. While the buildings stood the mind reverted to them as great white sentinels upon the lake front still proclaiming to all the world that here had art and beauty, science and skill, and the genius of man told the people of all nations the story of human progress and achievement. The memory, sweet with pleasant recollections, turned to those wonderful architectural triumphs as for some time to come marking the scene of a summer's delights such as we of this generation shall probably never again enjoy. Now all is changed.

The four winds of heaven are bearing over the unsalted seas and the trackless prairies the ashes alike of the mammoth Manufactures building and the stately Peristyle of the Temple of Music and the Casino—telling anew the story that all things pass away.

—Two months more and then the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the M E church will convene in Harrisburg. How time flies! It does not seem so near a year since that body of eminent divines were in session in this place, but that it is.

Mr John Kendrick Bangs has written a clever and amusing domestic story called "Thaddeus—His Christmas Gifts," which will appear in Harpers Bazar for this week.

CHAIRMAN REEDER'S CALL.

To the Republicans of Centre County.

Owing to changes in the Ballot Law, it will be necessary for the Republican party to make its nominations early for the various Borough and Township offices. The tickets must be printed by the County Commissioners. Under the law, all nominations must be made by regular, organized caucuses and must be certified to the Commissioners at least eighteen days before the day of election. I have prepared and will send out to the various committeemen of the County the necessary blanks with full instructions.

The Republicans are requested to meet in caucuses and make their nominations not later than January 27th, 1894.

In Boroughs the office of Assistant Burgess is abolished, and the chief Burgess is elected for three years.

In both Boroughs and Townships, Tax collectors are to be elected on Febrtary 20 1894, for the term of three years.

In Boroughs composed of more than one ward, and in townships composed of more than one precinct, it will be necessary for the ward and precinct caucuses to nominate the ward or precinct ticket and then certify it on the blank furnished. Then conferees are appointed for each ward or precinct and these conferees will meet in convention and nominate the Borough or Township ticket, and this ticket must then be certified on a separate blank furnished for that purpose, by the officers of the convention.

—James B. Mackie, the accomplished comedian, will soon present his new, bright, musical comedy entitled "Grimes' Cellar Door," which is said to be one continuous laugh from beginning to end. Mackie is favorably remembered here for his inimitable work as "Grimesey Me Boy" in "A Bunch of Keys," but as strong a hit as he was in that piece, his work in his new par, "Billy Grimes" who owns the Cellar Door, is said to totally eclipse all of his former efforts, and is a continuation of fun, frolic, good nature, laughable complications, and original songs and dances. Mackie is smart enough to see the necessity of a thoroughly good company all around, and has engaged one of the strongest musical companies in America, regardless of cost. In the opera house next Tuesday evening, the 16th.

A VOODOO DOCTOR.

Columbia, Pa., January 9.—The arrest here of John Alexander upon the charge of violating the law of the state in practicing medicine without being a registered physician has brought out a tale of such ignorance and superstition as is not often found among negroes above Mason and Dixon's line. Some time ago James Waters, a negro, was taken ill. He consulted Alexander, who is a "voodoo" doctor, and was told that he was bewitched and had been poisoned. Alexander told Waters to look in three glass balls, and the credulous negro declared that he saw faces reflected in two of them. Alexander then gave him two nails and told him to drive one in the ceiling of his house and put the other in the house door so that it would fall when any one entered. The person opening the door allowing the nail to fall would be the one who had bewitched him. On the fall of the nail Waters was to strike the nail in the ceiling three times and the spell would be raised. Whether Waters followed out the instructions of the "doctor" is not known for he died shortly afterwards and his mother, believing that he had died from neglect and not consulting a regular physician, had Alexander arrested.

A BATTLE FOUGHT IN BRAZIL.

Ten Thousand Troops Engaged and the Government Forces Defeated.

London, Jan. 9.—The Lisbon correspondent of the United Press forwards the following mail advices brought from Brazil by the steamship Clyde:

Rio Janeiro, December 26. An important battle has been fought in the state of Sao Paulo, in which the government troops, under General Argallo were defeated by the insurgents. There were 10,000 troops engaged in the battle. Five hundred of the government forces were killed and the rest were taken prisoners. Among the captured are General Silva and Tellas.

On December 22 an unsuccessful attack was made on Illhagrande. The only means of communication with Rio Janeiro is by a naval escort. Fighting beteen the government and the insurgent forces is going on all the time. The government interrupts all inland communications.

Santos has been blocked since the beginning of December by the Republican and other insurgent war ships. The troops under the insurgent General Saraiva are eight or ten days march from Sao Paulo, making a movement to the west toward Italare to fetch horses and forage.

THE WORLD'S FAIR FIRE.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—The exact loss by last night's world's fair fire cannot yet be given. There were 12,000 cases of exhibits stored in the manufacturers' building ready for shipment. The Russian, French and British exhibits were directly under the seat of the fire in the roof and were thoroughly soaked with water. The contents of the cases are not known, so it will be some time before the loss can be ascertained. A rough estimate by Collector of Customs Clark places it at $150,000. The loss outside of manufacturers' hall will be quite small.

The peristyle, casino and music hall and the court of honor are destroyed beyond repair. All that remains are the smoldering, smoking ruins on the east and the blackened and blistered manufacturers' and agricultural building on either side. All the plaster heroic statues were destroyed by the fierce heat. The casino, music hall and peristyle cost $210,000, but were valued only for their salvage.

Capt. Frederick Goetz is dangerously injured, and it is feared that he will die. The two others injured will recover.

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Buffalo, N. Y., January 9.—Miss Clara Curtiss, the handsome 18 year old daughter of William H. Curtiss, lies dying at her home with three bullets in her breast, fired by her father, who is undoubtedly crazy. Shortly before 1 o'clock Curtiss walked up to his daughter and pointing a pistol at her said he was going to end her life. The young lady tried to seize the revolver and called for her mother. Before she could grasp the pistol her father had fired. The bullet entered the girl's body and she sank to the floor. He fired twice again, and each bullet struck her in the breast. The noise of the shooting was heard by Mrs. Curtiss, and she rushed in and found her husband standing over the girl with the smoking revolver in his hand. Curtiss then turned the revolver on his wife and shot her but her wounds are not serious. Mrs. Curtiss's screams brought assistance from the neighbors and Curtiss was disarmed. Later Curtiss attempted to commit suicide in his cell by cutting the arteries in both arms with the broken pieces of his eye glass. He was then put in a strait jacket.

FIRE AT MILESBURG.

Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock fire was discovered in the attic of the house owned and occupied by Abraham McCollum, in Central City. The discovery was made at the same time by Mrs. W. H. Musser and Craig Grassmire. An alarm was immediately given and with prompt and efficient work of a bucket brigade the house was saved, though not before it was damaged to the extent of probably two hundred dollars. The fire originated from a defective flue.

—Laugh and grow fat. See the inimitable young comedian, James B Mackie, in the sparkling musical comedy "Grimes' Cellar Door." Handsome Louise Sanford and twenty other clever people comprise an unusually strong company. Will be in Garman's opera house, next Tuesday evening, January 16th.

MARRIED.

Caldwell—Mewshaw.—On Monday evening, January 8th, at the residence of Father McArdle, Bellefonte, by the Priest, Mr Thomas L. Caldwell and Miss Mary Mewshaw, both of Bellefonte.

WILL GET A FORTUNE.

A Story Related of Pathetic Hardship and Suffering.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., January 4.—Word has been received here of a decision by the supreme court of Illonois by which a romantic and pathetic story of the hardships of a young girl are happily ended and she becomes the possessor of over $100,000. In 1878 Samuel Sankey, one of the California pioneers of '49, came east to visit relatives in Lycoming county, in this state. While there he was attracted to his little niece, Carrie Sankey, an orphan, and he proposed to adopt her. Sankey was worth $100,000, and his proposition promised every benefit to the girl, but strange to say the relatives she lived with opposed the plan. Sankey kidnapped the girl and took her to Illinois. He returned to this state and was arrested for kidnapping. He compromised the case by formally adopting the child and then he took her to California. He made a will in her favor and she lived with him and his wife at their home in San Francisco. Sankey developed marked mental disorder and after the death of his wife in 1886 he began to abuse his adopted daughter. On July 26, 1886, Judge Coffey gave the child into the possession of the Society to Protect Children from Cruelty and the next day Sankey tore up his will and executed another, disinheriting Carrie. For a time the girl had a hard life of it trying to make a living, but finally she found a home and friends with Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Cummings, of San Francisco. In the meantime Sankey came east to visit his brother, John Sankey, of Mifflinburg, this state, where he died on October 15, 1886. Since then John Sankey and his brother's adopted daughter have waged a legal battle in the states of California, Pennsylvania and Illinois for possession of Sankey's money. In both California and Pennsylvania the courts decided that Sankey was insane when he tore up the will in Carrie's favor and that she was entitled to the money. Now word has been received that the court of last resort in Illinois has also decided in her favor and she will now get over $100,000.

JOHNSTOWN'S SENSATION.

JOHNSTOWN, Jan. 4.—Two men named Auburne and Young, fathers of youths recently arrested for robbery and larceny, were arraigned last night for keeping the "fences" where the boys placed their plunder. The elder Young gave bail for court, and Auburne's further hearing was postponed. The young men will not be bailed. Both the old men are reputable citizens.

The case is a remarkable one. The young robbers have been covering a big field and robbing everybody as opportunity afforded, from the Cambria Iron company to the street apple venders.

To show the range of their operations, one load of plunder, taken from one of the "fences," contained among many other articles the following: Two shotguns, nine revolvers, several kegs of nails, 100 feet of rope, two cigar boxes full of cartridges, saws, 300 Yale lock keys, a lot of wrenches, saws, files, screw-drivers, hinges, paint brushes, toy engine, augers, locks, miners' squibs, fuse, belts, leather, rosin, colored lead beads, tape lines and many other articles.

Everybody who has been robbed in this region during the fall and winter is coming to inspect the stolen property found in possession of the youthful thieves.

HAD A LONG SLEEP.

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Frank Wilson, a student in the Garret Biblical institute, made a miscalculation as to the length of a sermon last Sunday evening. He went to sleep when Rev. C. E. Wilkinson, of Hemenway Methodist church, Evanston began to preach, and failed to wake up when the sermon wos finished. So far as Wilson was concerned, it was a sixty hour sermon, and two physicians failed to convince him that it was of any less duration. They did not wake him until yesterday morning. During his sleep, the physicians say, the respiration was low, but regular, and his pulse at times became feeble and almost imperceptible. Both physicians agree that the case is extraordinary. Wilson, they say, has come out of his sleep very weak and feeble.

WAS 104 YEARS OLD.

BEDFORD, Pa., January 4.—Mrs. Sarah Davis, of New Paris, this county, probably the oldest woman in the state, died last night in her 104th year. She was the mother of seven children and had thirty-five grandchildren and sixty-three great-grandchildren. She has resided all her life in this county. For the past eight years she has been confined to her bed on account of not having the use of her lower limbs. Her eyesight was good until the day of her death, she being able to tell the time of day from a clock which hung on the opposite side of the room from where she lay. Her death was caused by an attack of the grip.

TWELVE MEN EXECUTED.

NEW YORK, January 4.—The bark Meritt, Captain Gilmore, which arrived to-day from Pernambuco, which port she left December 1, brings confirmation of the story told by Captain Anderson, of the Portugese Prince, to the effect that twelve men, sailors from the guard ship Paramayboa, were shot in the public place. Captain Gilmore says that the victims were not all sailors, but the carpenter and boat-swain of the guard ship were among those shot. No reason was given the men for their execution and no trial was vouchsafed by him. They were isolated and one day they were marched out into the square and there shot with but short time for preparation.

SPRING ELECTIONS.

The day for the spring elections for 1894 will be the third Tuesday of February, which is the 19th of the month, and under the present system of making nominations the time is drawing near when the party organizations will have to take up the question. The amended ballot law of 1893 requires that all nominations by certificates of party organizations for city or ward officers shall be filed in the County Commissioners' office at least twenty eight days before the election, and nominations by nomination papers for the same offices shall be filed twenty one days before it, not counting the day on which the paper is filed as one of them, and nominations for township and borough offices, and School Directors in the same, shall be filed wtih the County Commissioners at least eighteen days before the election, and nominations for same offices by nomination papers at least fifteen days before it.

THE CENTRAL RAILROAD.

This road is now almost in a fully completed condition. The turn-tables at both this place and Mill Hall have been completed and are now used daily. For the past week or so, fifty cars of ballast a day have been put on the road and five gangs of section hands have been hard at work lining up and straightening the track, so that now it is in a pretty good condition and by the first of next week will be in a first-class condition. Some time in the near future—probably the beginning of next week—a new schedule will be made up for the running of trains, which will give two round passenger trips daily and a local freight. Connections will be made with all trains on the Beech Creek, and our people will then enjoy the advantages of the increased railroad facilities. Already the new road has picked up quite a trade which, of course, will increase as the facilities are bettered.

CAUGHT IN A HAY PRESS.

On Tuesday afternoon Thomas Grove, living about two and one-half miles east of Centre Hall on the road to Spring Mills, received serious injuries while operating a hay baling press.

He was baling hay and feeding the machine, which either became clogged or did not feed fast enough. He then forced the hay into the press with his foot when the plunger caught his leg above the ankle joint and would have torn his foot off had it not been for the horse stopping.

He was brought up to Dr. Jacobs' office for treatment, but the Dr. was unable to find any broken bones owing to the swelled condition of his limb, which was three or four times its natural size. It was an exceedingly narrow escape for him, and it will be many days before he is of sound limb again.—Centre Reporter.

AT THE CHAPEL.

A large turnout of members of the Presbyterian Sunday school were present in the chapel on Thursday evening to participate in the exercises of the Christmas entertainment. Superintendent J. W. Gephart presided as master of ceremonies and also made a brief address. Reports were read by the teachers of the class work done and progress made during the past year. Forty dollars were distributed among the twenty classes to be used as designated on Thursday, for the relief of the worthy poor in Bellefonte. Interspersed with these exercises was excellent music rendered by a select choir. On the adjournment of the Sunday school an after service of prayer and song was held, preparatory to the opening of the week of prayer on Sunday evening. A prayer service will also be held this evening.

THEY HAD A LONG WAIT.

On Tuesday two fair maidens from Hecla came with their father to Bellefonte. When the latter had completed his business the young ladies were not ready to return and they bade their father go without them and they would return by rail. About noontime they made their way to the new Central depot to be there when the train started. They waited and waited until about three o'clock, then timidly inquired of one of the functionaries present "when the train went out?" As politely as possible the official told them "at 6.30 to-morrow morning." Although he very graphically described the look of blank despair that came over the faces of the two young ladies on hearing this announcement, yet our informant saith not whether they waited on that train or walked home.

NOT DONE EVERY DAY.

The Williamsport Sun says: Picking up $12,000 in cold cash is not the lot of every citizen nowadays, but when Conductor George Burkheimer and Brakeman William Mininger, of the Reading railroad arrived at Bethlehem with train No. 311, on Sunday night, they had the fortune to find an overlooked package containing that amount in the express train. The men followed up the messenger and handed over the bundle. They hope to be rewarded for their honesty in a substantial way.

Items of Interest Clipped or Condensed From Our Exchanges.

Nancy J. Barger, of Lewistown, aged 24; Mrs. Lydia Patterson, of McVeytown, aged 72; David Temple, of Lewistown, aged 73, are recent deaths in Mifflin county.

On December 26, 1893, in Menno township, Mifflin county, Mrs. Elizabeth Witman died aged 73 years. On the day following her husband, Isaac Witman, passed away, aged 77 years.

The dogs in Cass township, Huntingdon county, are still making sad havoc among the sheep. Amos Evans had some twenty-three out of thirty-seven killed or crippled in one night recently.

A few days ago John Bates, while at work on James Robbins's log job on Boggs run, near North Bend, had his left leg broken. One of the logs stuck and while attempting to pry it loose ond end suddenly swung around and struck him.

During the year just closed Register and Recorder Hileman, of Somerset, issued 283 marriages licenses—an increase of six over the preceding year. There were 2,224 licenses to wed issued in the county since the marriage licence law went into effect in October, 1885.

Among the recent deaths in Perry county are: Mrs. Stewart Smith, of Penn township, aged 56; Frederick Wahl, of the same township, aged 75; Charles Booth, of Rye township, aged 35; Mrs. Jane Bender, of Oliver township, aged 62; Frederick Peck, of Liberty Valley, aged 78 years.

Thomas Barns & Bro., have leased from the Steiner estate the large vein of cannel coal which underlies it and have started men to do the preliminary work and shafting in order to test the character and quality of the coal. The vein is close to Philipsburg and the Journal of that town is correspondingly happy over the outlook.

Mapleton Item: John W. Chilcote, of Cass township, came to Mapleton Tuesday with a load of ties, and in turning his team backed over an enbankment at Swope & Gayton's stone quarry thirty feet in height. The wagon was damaged considerably but, strange to say, though the horses rolled over each other in the descent, neither was hurt and one received only a slight stratch.

STARTED WITH 16-SHILLINGS.

One of the most remarkable Irishmen in this country walked down Broadway the other day and not one of the many hundred Irishmen on the busy street seemed to know him, despite the fact that he is in some respects the most remarkable man of his race in America. The man was Eugene Kelley, the banker, who for some years past has done more than any other man in this country to uphold William E. Gladstone, and who is worth $7,000,000 to-day, though when he landed in New York he had but 16 shillings in British money in his pocket, and who, it is reported, is soon to retire and take a well earned rest.

It is a long time ago, of course, when Mr. Kelly landed. It was then the gold fever still held good, and after working for $8 a week in New York young Kelly succumbed to that fever. He had some romantic experiences, but he got to California in the end, and his canny north of Ireland sense told him that it was just as profitable and more sure to trade with the miners, and, having a little money saved, he did this with great profits. From trading in provisions he went into exchanging gold dust for the miners and then into legitimate banking, in which he prospered as did his brother Irishmen, Flood, Mackay and O'Brien.

Kelly came East at the opening of the war a rich man, as rich men went then. It was after this that he opened his banking house in New York, which has so prospered as to put him well up among the millionaires. No banker in New York is more trusted by the people or respected by financiers.

Mr. Kelly seldom appears at the meeting where contributions for the Irish are to be made. He does just as well. He sends his check, and it is never for a small amount. Nor does he appear, for that matter, at any public meeting or take any part in politics. Mr. Kelley is a devout Catholic and a close friend of Cardinal Gibbons.

WHICH DAY.

Much has been said recently about which day of the week is the Sabbath. The word Sabbath is a Hebrew word meaning rest, and nothing more. Nearly all nations and people from time immemorial have selected one day out of seven as a day of rest, consequently every day in the week is recognized as Sunday by different nations. The Christian nations recognize Sunday the first day of the week as their day of rest. Monday is the Greek Sunday; Tuesday the Sunday for the Persains; Wednesday for the Assyrians; Thursday by the Egyptians; Friday by the Turks, and Saturday by the Jewish race. Persons having conscientious scruples in regard to a day for rest can take their choice but they must also observe the lawful day of the country they reside in.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., January 4.—A terrible accident happened yesterday at the home of Sol Collins, on Spring Creek, news of which has just reached here. Collins sat by an open fire place with a keg of blasting powder beside him. He threw some of the powder into the fire thinking it too damp to burn. A terrible explosion followed, tearing the roof from the house and burning, more or less, eight persons. The only way any of their lives was saved was by jumping into a creek which runs close to the house. Most of them will die.

DEATH OF MRS. KRAEMER.

On Tuesday afternoon, 2nd, Susanna, wife of Daniel Kreamer, passed this vale of tears, surrounded by her immediate family. Mother Kraemer had been prostrated for a number of weeks from a succession of apopleptic attacks, and four or five days before her death, her condition was that of unconsciousness.

The deceased was a daughter of John Weaver, one of the early settlers and pioneer families of Brushvalley. Her age was 78 years on the 9th of last October. She has one brother living yet, George Weaver, of the same place.

The deceased had a large circle of relatives and friends, with whom she stood in high esteem. She was a faithful wife and loving mother, and a lifelong and consistent member of the Reformed church. She leaves an aged husband, and all her children, save one, to mourn her loss. Her children are, Mrs. John Wolf, of near Rebersburg; Harry Kraemer, of Centre Hall; Mrs. Abe Lukenbach, of Bellefonte; Mrs. S. S. Wolf, deceased; Mrs. David J. Meyer, of Centre Hall, and Mrs. Ammon Wolf, widow, Rebersburg. By marriage Mrs. Kraemer was the aunt of Messrs. William and Jared Harper, of this place, and these gentlemen both departed Thursday afternoon for Rebersburg to be present at the funeral which occurred there this morning, Rev. Eisenberg, of Centre Hall officiating.

WHAT WEATHER.

Did any of our readers ever see the beat of such weather as this? Just think of it! This is the 5th day of January and up to this time three inches was the deepest fall of snow had at any one time, while ten degrees above zero was the coldest weather we have had. While most of the time the thermometer has ranged from 45 to 60 degrees above. Men are working out doors in their shirt sleeves, farmers are ploughing in some parts of the state; flowers are blooming—why a fresh-blooming dandelion was brought to this office and presented to the writer this afternoon; birds are singing, the school boy is playing marbles and the weather is all the world like a day in the latter part of April.

Reports from some parts of the state are in effect that peach and cherry buds are swelling, the grass is growing, etc. It is in fact the most remarkable weather ever experienced by our oldest residents, and knocks Hicks' prophecies sky high. William Lyon, our Bishop street "Billy," was asked this noon if he knew of anything that could beat this kind of weather, replied very meekly "Snow," and we about agree with him; especially for this season of the year.

IS BUSINESS IMPROVING.

This is the all-important question that is now agitating the majority of the people here as well as elsewhere. As usual we had the week or ten day's utter depression after the Christmas purchases and then with the first of January came the time when business men devote considerable of their time to settling up their accounts and balancing their books. But now there seems to be a feeling as if we were on the dawn of brighter times.

On Thursday the NEWS reporter took a walk along the principal business streets of Bellefonte and what he saw was very encouraging. Most of our merchants seemed as busy as in olden times. Allegheny street was crowded with farmer's wagons who had driven into town to do their trading and buying, while the delivery wagons of grocers and others were busy delivering purchases to residents in Bellefonte. This is a healthy sign and one that all our people should rejoice in. Let the good times come—they cannot come to soon—that everybody may have work to do and plenty to wear and eat.

APRIL FIRST FLITTINGS.

From all accounts there is going to be an unusually large number of flittings this spring. On Bishop street alone six families will change residence, while in other parts of Bellefonte there is almost a proportionate ratio. Register George Rumberger has rented the residence of Joseph Fox, on Bishop street, and will move his family here from Philipsburg. Prothonotary Smith will also move here from Penn township. Ex-Treasurer James Gramley will move from the house he now occupies on Bishop street to one further east on that thoroughfare. Mr. W. H. Musser will move from Milesburg to Howard street, and so on through a long list of families whose destination we have not yet heard.

—It is singularly strange how the Gazette gets mixed up in matters of fact. In stating about the contest for the diamond pin it says: "The contest was for the most popular bartender of the place." Now the facts were as we published them at the time, a contest between Messrs. Schoof, Ryan and Gerrity, to see who could secure the most money for the fire company to which he belonged. The company, recognizing the services of the two successful competitors, gave them each a pin exactly alike in quality and cost. The trouble with the uptown daily is that it slops all over its subjects.

It Never fails to Cure—MANNING'S DOUBLE EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

WAITING WAS USELESS.

The Old Man Did Not Believe in Long Continued Spooning.

From the Chicago Times

"Mr. Grimshaw!"

"Well, what is it?"

It was Henri Spoondrift, only son and heir of old Spoondrift, the flour merchant, who spoke. He had left Maude Grimshaw in the parlor and entered the library to ask her father's consent.

"Mr. Grimshaw, I—I—"

"Yes, I know. You are young Spoondrift, son of your daddy and all that, but don't spring any old chestnuts on me! If you have anything to say out with it."

"Mr. Grimshaw, for the last three years I have—I have—"

"Yes, I've seen you spooning around here for three or four years. You must know the house pretty well by this time. Is there anything you wish to say to me before we part?"

"Sir! I love—love—that is I love—"

"Pudding, probably! So do I, it's the right sort. Young man, do you think I care two continental cocked hats whether you love pudding or not?

"Mr. Grimshaw, can I speak to you?" pleadingly inquired the young man.

"Speak to me! Why, blame your eyebrows, but I've been trying my best to get you to talk! What in thunder ails you, anyhow? If you want a nickel for car fare, why don't you ask for it like a man instead of a chest protector?"

"For three years I have loved your daughter Maude!" desperately announced Henri.

"You have! Then you are an idiot! A man who will spoon around for three long years hasn't the sense of a chickadee! Does Maude suspect that you love her, as you call it?"

"She does. I am sure that she likewise returns my love."

"Yes, she's just flat-headed enough. She could have her pick of a dozen football chaps, and yet she wants to marry a young man who couldn't pull a turnip up by the roots!"

"Mr. Grimshaw, I am not an athlete, but I will—"

"Shut up! You mean that you will learn to ride a pike or become a champion runner, but I don't care two cents about that! How quick can you marry Maude?"

"Why in two or three months, if the angel is willing."

"Two or three months! Young man, you skate back to the parlor and tell her it's got to come off within two weeks! Not a blamed day longer! I've been ready to give my consent for the last two years and a half, and now the spooning must come to an end. Go—hop—skate—get ready to marry or die?"

A WOMAN'S SIGNATURE.

An important matter to teach a girl is the value of her signature. If the habit is once formed of attaching her full name to every letter she writes, with her address, it may save a great deal of trouble in future times, should her letters be lost. She should be taught the responsibility which she assumes in thus signing her name, and she is not likely to write silly and foolish letters, which she would gladly recall. She should also learn that she must not affix her name to any list of individuals, any society or any document without knowing fully what responsibility she is assuming. The matter may seem trivial, but she should give time to thought in all matters where her name is asked for, and not trust even to her dearest friend against her own judgment. Times have changed, indeed, since the days when a young girl's fondest aspiration upon quitting school was to change her name. Her whole social education tended to instruct her that her life would be a failure until she got rid of her father's name. Now she prizes it. She often keeps it in her married name to show the race she springs from. She is not in a great hurry to change it.

TRAIN SPEED.

Superintendent Alvey, of the Baltimore and Ohio Road, lives out at Takoma, and the coterie of commuters in the smoking car always save a seat for him in the morning, no matter how big the crowd may be. Coming into church recently some one asked him how fast the train was running. He pulled out his watch, and, after quickly glancing at it, peered intently out of the window. In a little while he remarked quietly:

"This train is going between thirty-one and thirty-two miles an hour."

There was a chorus of queries as to how he had determined it, because his manner left no doubt in the mind of any one that he was entirely serious.

"It is very easy to find out the speed when you are traveling on a double tracked road," he replied. "If you are curious about it hereafter just look at the inside of the outer rail on the opposite track for a minute or two until you find that you can distinguish where one rail joins another. Then count the joints, and as many rails as you pass in twenty one seconds is the number of miles your train is traveling an hour. Try it yourselves and figure it out, and you will find out I'm right."

RELICS OF THE WRECK.

The black tiger which escaped from the wreck of Walter L. Main's circus, near Vail, last May, and which was afterwards shot by a party near Bald Eagle, has been stuffed and can now be seen in a Tyrone hotel. The mounds along the railroad, where the wreck occurred, and where fifty two horses lie buried, also bring to the minds of those passing the place of the worst slaughter of annimals ever occuring on the Tyrone & Clearfield division, one that the people, as well as the company, do not care to see repeated.

COULD NOT BE BULLDOZED.

During Mr. Grow's 12 years' services in Congress he often participated in exciting scenes, one of which occurred on the floor of the house about 2 o'clock on the morning of February 6, 1858. It was an all-night session on the question of a reference of the Kansas message of President Buchanan, with the Lecompton constitution, to a select committee, and the time was being taken up by filibustering roll calls on motions to excuse absent members and on motions to adjourn. Pending one of these, Reuben Davis, of Mississippi, proposed to have a few speeches, to which Grow, of Pennsylvania, who happened to be passing down the aisle on the Democratic side, objected.

Quitman, also of Mississippi, commenced talking, and Grow objected again, whereupon Davis, accompanied by Keitt, of South Carolina, came up to Grow, and Keitt said:

"If you are going to object, go over to your own side of the house."

Grow replied: "This is a free hall, and every man has a right to be where he pleases."

Keitt said: "I want to know what you mean by such an answer as that?"

"I mean just what I say," replied Grow; "this is a free hall, and a man has a right to be where he pleases." Whereupon Keitt, seizing Grow by the throat, said: "I will let you know that you are a d—d black Republican puppy." Grow knocked up his hand and said: "I shall occupy such place in this hall as I please, and no nigger-driver shall crack his whip over me."

Keitt again attacked Grow, and Grow knocked him down.

Davis and others from that side went at Grow, and the Republicans rushed over to his assistance, and the proceedings of the House were interesting for about two minutes. After the belligerents had returned to their seats, Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, undertook to make some pacificatory remarks, but was abruptly called to order by Barksdale, and so the affair ended.

THAT INJUNCTION CASE.

The argument in the case of the Pennsylvania Railrood Company against J. W. Gephart, the Valentine Iron Comvany and the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania, an application for an injunction to restrain the defendants from shipping freight over the Nittany Valley branch of the P. R. R., took place on Friday, and occupied the attention and time of the Court during most all of the day. The plaintiffs were represented by John Blanchard, Esq., of this place, and David W. Sellers, Esq., of Philadelphia. The defendants' counsel were Bower & Orvis, Beaver and Dale, of Bellefonte, and Charles M. Clements, the Reading's attorney, of Sunbury, Pa. The argument in the morning was made by Lawyers Blanchard and Bower, both of whom made most able speeches. In the afternoon the argument was by Lawyers Sellers and Clements. On both sides the ground was thoroughly gone over, and the case ably conducted and argued, and it is impossible even to conjecture which side may win in the end. The Court, as is usual in such cases, reserved its decision.

HEDGE FENCES FOR FARMS.

The fence problem, like the road question, is always a serious matter and an item of considerable expense to the farmers. The cattle will persist in invading a neighbor's cabbage patch, and very often it takes more than sharp prongs on barbed wire to keep them out. It costs money to build a substantial board fence that rots in ten years. Then, again, barbed wire, which is the cheapest material used for fences, is very dangerous for horses. Strange to say, the horse, noted for his intelligence, if caught in the meshes of a wire fence is sure to try to push his way through instead of turning back. Barbed wire has been responsible for the death of many a fine animal, and the farmers don't like it.

A party of 20 farmers from the neighborhood of Williamsport returned to-day from a trip to Dayton, Ohio, where they had been to inspect the hedge fence enclosing the Soldier's Home. They were very much pleased with the appearance of the fence and have decided to introduce it in the Susquehanna valley. An attempt is also being made to introduce the hedge fence in Pennsvalley, this county.

The old-time simple remedy from the Georgia swamps and fields has gone forth to the antipodes, astonishing the skeptical and confounding the theories of those who depend solely on the physician's skill. VIGOROUS HEALTH for MEN

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no noticed nostrum, of a secret character, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices.

On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

A committee is moving to make Shiloh battlefield a national park. Chickamauga and Chattanooga have already been cared for but what of Gettysburg? What has become of the bill to make Gettysburg a national park which General Sickles went to Congress on purpose to get passed? It has not yet been so much as introduced. General Sickles, had you not better hurry up that bill? Gettysburg is in the path of the vandals and needs protection.

IT CAUSED STRONG MEN TO SHED TEARS.

As a rule, railroad men are about as hard hearted as the average, says the Los Angeles Times, and it takes something out of the ordinary run to bring tears to their eyes, but a whole crew on one of the Southern Pacific's local train shed tears early the other morning, and a little black dog with out a friend in the world caused it.

The Colton local had just passed a little station called Nahaut, when the engineer saw a man lying at full length on the track, only a few yards in front of his engine.

The usual danger signal was given, but the man did not move, and the train was brought to a standstill a few feet from him.

A glance at the body from close range showed the engineer that the poor fellow was stone dead. In a few minutes the conductor, engineer and trainmen were standing around the body.

Up to this time they had not observed the presence of a little black dog, but as soon as they approached his master he made a dash for the nearest man, and for a few seconds fought with all his puny strength to keep the men away.

They were there for the purpose of examining the body, however, to see what could be done, and the little dog was rudely kicked one side. He did not howl with pain as a dog generally does when kicked. He simply gathered himself up and quietly made his way between the men's legs until he reached his dead master's head, when he placed his little face by the side of his master's, and after looking at the intruders a few seconds began to whine, and big tears were noticed running down his nose.

"I have often heard," said one of the witnesses, "that dogs have been known to shed tears, but I never believed it until then, and I have lots more respect for the dog family than I ever before had. When I looked around at my companions, there was not a dry eye.

"The old man, who was probably a section hand, was removed from the track with more care than is usually displayed in such cases. Blankets were carefully spread, and his remains were handled as gently as a mother would have done, and all on account of the tears in that little dog's eyes. As soon as the dog discovered that our roughness had disappeared, he became friendly and seemed to appreciate what we were doing for his master; but we could not induce him to leave his dead friend, and when the train pulled out he was still sitting at the old man's head."

The old man was probably walking down the track during the night, when a train came along and ran over him. The whole length must have passed over his body, but strange as it may seem, there were only a few bruises about the head. He had been dead several hours when found.

A SENSIBLE DECISION

Some time ago, it will be remembered, when a crank named Norcross entered the office of Russell Sage and handed him a note demanding a large sum of money and threatened to drop a bag filled with dynamite if the money was not given him, a broker's clerk named Laidlaw, who happened to be in the office at the same time, was suddenly taken hold of by Mr. Sage and by him put between himself and the crank, to protect him from danger. The dynamite was exploded, Norcross was killed, Sage escaped without injury, and Laidlaw was so injured that he lost his hearing and his nerves were wrecked. Laidlaw was in the hospital a long time. When he came out, he asked Sage for money on the ground that he had received an injury caused by Mr. Sage's putting him between himself and the murderous crank. Sage refused, whereupon the injured man brought suit for damages. The lower court dismissed the suit on the ground that the plaintiff had not shown that he would have escaped injury if Mr. Sage had not touched him.

An appeal was taken to the supreme court which the other day reversed the ruling of the lower court and ordered a new trial. The supreme court says that the jury would have a right to infer from the evidence that Sage, fearing danger, placed Laidlaw between himself and the danger as the best possible means of protection. "If the defendant put his hand upon or touched the plaintiff and caused him to change his position with that intent, he was guilty of a wrongful act toward the plaintiff, and if the plaintiff was injured by the happening of the anticipated catastrophe then burden is thrown upon the defendant of establishing that his wrongful act did not in the slightest degree contribute to any part of the injury which the plaintiff sustained by reason of the explosion. It is not necessary for the plaintiff to show that he would not have been so severely injured if he had been left standing in his original position, but the defendant being wrongdoer in attempting to make this improper use of the plaintiff's body, he must clear his skirts of any possible interference that some, at least, of the injuries of the plaintiff may have resulted from his wrongful act."

A GREAT OFFER.

The great offer being made by the Pittsburg Dispatch to take the sixty teachers of the public schools in Pittsburg, Allegheny, and other points in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland, to Atlantic City in July is the talk of the hour. The additional inducement that the twelve teachers of the sixty who receive the largest number of votes will be taken on a supplementary trip to Philadelphia, New York and Boston after the Atlantic City trip is over is indicative of the liberality which governs The Pittsburg Dispatch in everything it does. Give your favorite teacher the benefit of a splendid summer outing.

GORED TO DEATH.

CAPE MAY, N. J., Jan 5—Captain Elmer Willetts, a retired sea captain and wealthy oyster planter, was killed on his stock farm at Dias creek this afternoon by a prize Holstein bull. The Captain was gored by the same bull one day last week and only escaped with his life by the fortunate appearance of a farm hand. He was prominent in Grand Army circles, and aged about 65.

—We are in receipt of a letter from our old friend and fellow-journalist, Mr. Geo. P. Bible, formerly editor of the Centre Democrat, but now principal of the East Stroudsburg State Normal School. George says they have over three hundred students and a most successful school—more so now than it was in years past. All of Mr. Bible's old friends will be glad to hear that he is getting along so well and we congratulate him on his success. May it be as lasting as the everlasting sunshine.

TRAPPED AND MARRIED.

Big Brothers Had Pistols, a License and a Minister Ready.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. VA., Jan 5.—A wedding took place on Little Fishing creek near here recently, under rather sensational circumstances, and it may result in a serious complication for the relatives of the bride and the preacher who tied the knot. The groom in the case is a young man from Ohio, known as "Dude" Hoffman, and the bride is Miss Lillie Suter.

Hoffman lives just across the river from here, and the allegation is that he had kept company with Miss Suter for a year or more. Fearing that Hoffman did not mean to marry the girl, the mother and brothers laid a trap for him. He did not discontinue his visits to the house, so when he called he met a surprise party that took his breath.

As soon as he entered the house a big brother met him with a pistol and told him he must marry Lillie, and must do it at once. Hoffman said he would but that he had no license, offering to come next day with the necessary document. At that point another brother appeared on the scene, also armed, not only with a revolver, but a marriage license. Rev. J. H. Cobb had been called to save any difficulty which might arise, stepped from another room ready to tie the nuptial knot, and Hoffman found himself in a trap from which he could not escape alive and single, so he chose matrimony and life, and answered the ministers questions in the affirmative, looking alternately into the eyes of his blushing bride and the six shooters of her brothers.

Hoffman declares that he will bring suit to annul the marriage and for damages at once.

Hoffman is quite well-to do, as is the Suter family, both being among the best people in this region. The bride is a sweet girl of 18, with a wealth of golden hair and a figure of extreme beauty.

NO PROSPECTS FOR A QUORUM.

WASHINGTON, January 7.—Up to a late hour to-night, so far as could be learned, there had been no returns upon the warrants issued for the arrest of members of the house absent without leave, so that the prospects for the presence of a quorum at to-morrow's session have not materially changed since adjournment yesterday. Representative Brown, of Indiana, reached Washington this afternoon, and will add one to the number of democratic representatives who will vote in favor of seconding the previous question on the passage of the order for the consideration of the Wilson bill. Representative Pence, of Colorado, left the city to-day for Indiana, his old home, to attend the funeral of a relative, but his absence will have no effect upon the situation—he has not been voting upon the pending question. What is needed is the presence of representatives presumably democrats who will aid in making a quorum on the vote to pass the order. Officials of the house still assert confidence that the quorum will be present to-morrow.

A BRIDE AND GROOM IN JAIL.

CHESTER, Pa., January 5.—Fourteen-year old Lillian Brown, a bride of but a few hours, was locked up in the city jail here to-night with her husband, fourteen years her senior. The girl wife ran away from her home in this city Monday night and her father, Joshua Brown, placed the case in the hands of Chief of Police Bagshay. Two hours before she was married he saw the groom in the barber shop getting shaved, and while the chief was looking for the girl the couple were married by Rev. B. F. Jester, of the First Methodist church, and have their certificate to show for it. They are now spending their honeymoon in separate cells in the police station awaiting the action of the authorities.

IS STILL A CANDIDATE.

PHILADELPHIA, January 7.—Isaac L. Rice visited New York to-day and after his return to-night he said that he was still a candidate for the presidency of the Reading road, but that he did not expect to be elected. He said that his candidacy was only intended as a rebuke to the present management of the road and every vote cast for him would show how many of the stockholders thought as he did. Mr. Rice said he would have no one associated with him on his ticket, as believed it useless for men to stand up simply to be knocked down.

SOME HAWAIIAN RUMORS.

No News Given Out By the Captain of the Corwin.

CHICAGO, January 7.—A special from San Francisco, says: The revenue cutter Corwin is still anchored off San Quentin, and all efforts to approach her are proving futile.

A story has gained currency to-day that among those on board is Minister Willis, who has been given his passports by the provisional government of Hawaii, and took the earliest opportunity to leave the scene of his fiasco as a diplomat.

Whether or not he is aboard, it is a fact that the captain under orders received from Washington before sailing for Honolulu will hold no communication with his shores until after the arrival of the mail steamer next Tuesday. The reason for an order of that kind is not obvious to the layman, and among naval officers is regarded more as a bit official tape of the reddest kind, rather than a necessity for the successful carrying out of any particular plan. A number of attempts were made yesterday by influential men to get orders from Washington for permission to board the Corwin, but all were made with out success.

CAN'T PAY UNION PRICES.

PITTSBURGH, January 7.—The mill committees at the Sligo iron and steel works were notified yesterday that a wage reduction might be expected on Monday. This announcement was entirely unexpected the mill having resumed at Amalgamated rates only a few days ago. Manager Bailey is understood to have said to the committees that it would be impossible to pay union prices on account of competition, and that unless lower rates of pay were accepted the works would have to close down. The reduction contemplates reducing iron puddlers from $4.75 to $4 per ton, while the steel workers will be reduced from $7 per ton to $6 per ton. While the workmen have not publicly announced their decision, it is understood that they have determined to resist the reduction and a strike will probably be declared if the reduction is insisted upon by the operators.

REAL MERIT.

Is the characteristic of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it is manifested every day in the remarkable cures this medicine accomplishes. Druggists say: When we sell a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla to a new customer we are sure to see him back in a few weeks after more,—proving that the good results from a trial bottle warrant continuing its use. This positive merit Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses by virture of the Peculiar Combination Proportion and Process used in its preparation, and by which all the remedial value of the ingredients used is retained. Hood's Sarsaparilla is thus Peculiar to Itself and absolutely unqualled in its power as a blood purifier, and as a tonic for building up the weak and weary, and giving nerve strength.

A TON OF "MILLERS"

On New Year's day the Miller family held a reunion in Huntingdon county. The family included Mr. and Mrs. H. Snyder Miller, six sons, five daughters-in-law, one daughter and one aunt. Before leaving they were each weighed and the aggregate weight made a grand total of 2,070 pounds. Where is there another family, of equal numbers, as heavy as this?

The stormy winter with its rains, and snows, and rushing blasts serves timely notice on all persons, who think life worth the living, that they must keep on hand a supply of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the infallible cure for cough, cold and incipient consumption, or suffer the consequences of their temerity.

ONE WOMAN SHOOTS ANOTHER.

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Inspired by jealousy, Mrs. Maud Bond, early this morning shot Mrs. Mary Gardner at the latter's home, 1796 West Chicago avenue. Three bullets took effect, and Mrs. Gardner's condition is reported as critical. Mrs. Bond said when placed under arrest that she intended to kill Mrs. Gardner because she had come between her and her husband.

Memories Of The War.

The Horrors Of Libby Prison Revived.

AN EVENT WHICH WILL SURPRISE EVEN OLD SOLDIERS.

The Most Wonderful Experience of the Army Ever Recorded.

We never tire of hearing of the thrilling adventures of the war and the wonderful escapes from Libby Prison. The recent removal of this famous jail to Chicago renders any facts about it at this time particularly interesting.

A most fascinating story has just come to us of a man who passed five months of agony in this prison. The experiences of this person during and since the war are the most remarkable that have ever been brought to public notice. This man is none other than the well-known Mr. L. W Potter, of West Berlin, Vt. He writes the following interesting letter:

"Since my return from the war my health has been growing poorer from exposure and hard service and the horrors of a five months' imprisonment in Libby prison. I came home a complete wreck and was sick for a whole year, during which time I did no work at all, being confined to my bed for about half the time.

"After I got up I was so weak that I could not walk but a short distance and then was obliged to stop and rest. About two years ago I found myself in a very bad condition with nervous prostration, the results of my long time poor health."

"I took most every kind of medicine

that I could hear of, with no good results until I commenced on Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, which relieved me of nervousness and gave me strength so that I was able to walk and work. I consider Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy the best medicine there is for nervousness and to give strength to any weak person."

"Then personally appeared before me L W Porter, of West Berlin, Vt., to me personally known, and subscribed and swore to the truth of the foregoing statement."

CARLOS L SMITH, Notary Public.

Well may Mr. Porter be called a hero, well may every inhabitant of the civilized world read of his experience and well may all mankind rejoice at its termination. The horrible sufferings which he experienced from disease were even worse than those of the war and prison. But he is a well man at last and cannot say enough in praise of this remarkable remedy. His restoration to health after so many years of suffering is indeed most wonderful.

If you are suffering from any form of nervous or chronic disease, indigestion, weakness, kidney or liver complaint, take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It will cure you.

Dr. Greene the noted specialist in the cure of all nervous and chronic diseases, can be consulted at his office, 35 West 14th St., New York, free, personally or by letter.

BLOOD WILL TELL.

Of course it will—that is if it is good healthy blood. It will glow in the cheek, and tell the story of perfect physicial health. If it does not, if the complexion is devoid of color, the muscles weak and flaccid, something is wrong, and something ought to be done about it at once, for in such cases delays are dangerous. For torpid liver, "billiousness," and the thousand and one ills to which these conditions of the system lead, there is no remedy in the world equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Boils, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous sores, and all kindred diseaes are cured by it.

BLINDED BY SMOKE.

SCRANTON, Jan, 3.—Three Hungarians were crossing a small bridge on the Delaware and Hudson road near Avoca this afternoon. Beneath the bridges runs the mountain cut off of the Lehigh Valley road. The smoke of an engine passing beneath the bridge blinded the Huns. Mike Kolinck was cut to pieces, John Soconick had an arm cut off and Peter Palinck was grazed by the train as it flew by. The men lived in this city and were in search of work.

A BIT OF GOOD NEWS.

The publishers of the Columbian Album the wonderful Christmas gift of THE PITTSBURG TIMES to its readers, have decided to extend the scope of the work so as to make it a volume of 224 views instead of 160 as originally intended. This will necessitate an increase in the number of parts from 10 to 14. With the last part will be furnished a complete index and title page. Twenty-five thousand copies of the Columbian Album are being sent out by THE TIMES each week With the enlargement of the scope of the work this number should be doubled.

THE series of articles on "Great American Industries," edited by Mr R R Bowker, will be resumed in the February HARPER'S MAGAZINE, the subject treated being "A Bar of Iron." The story is popularly told, with effective pictorial illustrations.

THERE has not appeared in many a day so attractive a serial story as Captain Chars King's "Cadet Days," which is running in Harper's Young People. All the trials and griefs and sorrows and difficulties of a young cadet at West Point are brought out by the writer in a natural, entertaining way, which has a strong moral lesson with it that cannot fail to have its effect. The present number of the Harper's Young People has a generous instalment of this story. HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE for January 2d is the New Year's issue, and contains the usual amount of attractive stories, together with a four-page cover, printed in colors. It contains articles by A J Kenealy, Sally Thornelike, Paul Hull. Richard Barry, Georgia Pell Curtis, and the Round Table supplements.

SQUAW AND REE CORN.

These two varieties have been raised here for hundreds of years by the great Sioux Tribe of Indians. The Ree corn is so named from one of the families or tribe of the Sioux Nation, and is pure white and very sweet for use, often ripening within 60 days after planting and producing with ordinary cultivation 80 bushels per acre. The Squaw variety contains all the colors of the rainbow, is also sweet and highly productive and the prettiest corn grown; it is beautiful for ornamental purposes and valuable as a field crop. We will send post paid to any address in the United States on receipt of money, one package of either variety for 15 cents or a package of each variety for 25 cents, or a large package containing both varieties, from which 25 bushels may be grown the first season, for $1, or 6 six packages for $5. NEW RAILROAD PROJECTS.

Potter County to Be Traversed—Black Lick to Give a New Pittsburg Line.

SMETHPORT, PA., Jan. 8.—The Goodyears, the lumber kings of Northern Pennsylvania, have at last located the line of their new railway from Gaines, Pa., to Ansonia, Pa., and settled upon the terminal station and arranged for side tracks and connections with the Fall Brook Railway at Ansonia. The Goodyear road is to be known as the Buffalo and Susquehanna Railway, and its line will be from Keating Summit, Potter county, to Ansonia, Tioga county. Work is to begin not later than the 15th of this month. The proposed railroad will traverse Potter county from west to east and open a territory now absolutely devoid of railroad facilities.

A dispatch from Ebensburg says: Work on the Black Lick Railroad was resumed to-day with about 700 men. The work on this line was suspended last fall. The line is graded for about nine miles from this place, and it is the intention of the company to extend it down five miles further. It is believed that the Beech Creek Company's determination to get into that region is the cause of the sudden resumption on the Black Lick line. When this road is completed the Pennsylvania Company, by using the Indiana branch to Blairsville Intersection and then the West Penn to Pittsburg, will have a short route to Pittsburg from the East. The Beech Creek Company have several gangs of engineers at work engaged in surveying routes down the Black Lick and are pushing the work as fast as possible.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 8—Agib Ricketts, of Wilkesbarre stopped here, en route to Washington, to attend the Prohibition state convention to-morrow. He is the only arrival up to date and says he knows nothing of the probable action to be taken. F. A. Mullin, of Mt. Holly Springs, Cumberland county, has been mentioned for nomination.

Prohibitionists here say Chairman Patton's call did not contemplate reconvening last year's convention, but the holding of a general mass meeting. Indications now are the convention will meet and adjourn without any formal action.

FAIR BUILDINGS BURNED.

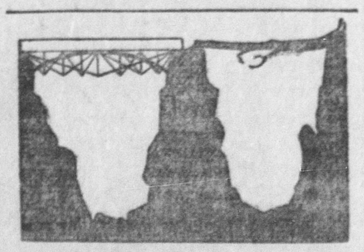
CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Before the gaze of a vast throng this evening the beautiful peristyle of the World's Columbian exposition met a glorious end, and the magnificent column sank to ashes in a funeral pyre. With it went the Casino and music hall flanking the peristyle at either end, and before the destruction of the grand water entrance to the fair had been completed the great manufactures building, containing $2,090,000 worth of exhibits packed and ready for shipment, was on fire in a dozen of places, while brave firemen with heroic energy were risking life and limb to stay destruction.

FOUND DEAD.

PLYMOUTH, Ind., Jan.—A fine looking man of about 40 years of age was found dead this morning about four miles south of town. At the coroner's inquest it was found that the man's name is probably Peter Arnoll, of Philadelphia. He had some letters, a cheap watch and $87 in money on his person. A ticket from Philadelphia to Chicago, dated Jan. 4, was also found in his pocket. He was noticed previously walking near the river about midnight by some boys who supposed he was drunk. It is thought he died from exposure.

HANGING IN A BARN.

PITTSBURG, Jan. 8.—Conrad H. Mendel was found hanging in a barn on the Ashton farm, 12 miles from Allegheny city at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The body was brought to the morgue this morning. The coroner believes the case to be clearly one of suicide, although there are slightly suspicious circumstances connected with it. Deceased was 65 years of age, and resided with his family in Allegheny city. No motive for the self murder is known.



Which is the Best to Try, out of all the medicines that claim to help women? Wouldn't it seem to be the one which costs you nothing unless it does help? That is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There's no other. But if that doesn't benefit or cure, in the case of every tired or ailing woman, she'll have her money back.

In building up exhausted or overworked women, and in all the weaknesses and disorders of womanhood, nothing can compare with this medicine. For periodical pains, prolapsus and other displacements, bearing-down sensations, weak back, and "female complaints" of every kind, it is a safe, certain, and guaranteed remedy.

C See if Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy won't cure you, if you're suffering with Catarrh. Then, if you can't be cured, the makers will pay you $500 in cash.

A WITNESS MISSING.

CHICAGO, Ill, Jan. 8.—Andrew Foy, with a new suit of clothes and a roll of bills, has left Chicago. According to one story he has gone to New York to meet McLaughlin, the state's expected witness, and according to another he has left the country, as he fears arrest. Whether either of these stories is true is not known. One thing is certain, Andrew Foy is gone and his friends deny that they know where he is.

Andrew Foy is the husband of Mrs. Foy, and, if the story that his wife told be true, is so deeply implicated in the murder of Dr. Cronin as Dan Coughlin is supposed to be James McLaughlin is Mrs. Foy's brother. Until lately he has been living in Glasgow, Scotland, but the state, beliving he could testify, have tried to induce him to return. A ticket was sent him and he is believed to have left Glasgow Dec. 30. He is due in New York to-day. It is thought by the prosecution that McLaughlin may be tampered with when he lands, and a trusted agent is waiting at New York to head off just such an attempt.

HAWAII AT PEACE.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 8.—The Canadian Pacific steamer Warrimoo arrived to-day bringing Honolulu advices to January 1. Most intense excitement prevailed thoughout Honolulu until the arrival of the revenue cutter Corwin. After that Minister Willis made his demand upon President Dole to surrender the provisional government to the queen. The provisional government promptly refused, and Minister Willis took no further step to enforce compliance with his order. The excitement then rapidly subsided and for a week before the sailing of the Warrimco there was perfect tranquility. It is now thought that the crisis has passed.

DUVAL CLUB SHOWS BATTLE.

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 8.—The Duval Athetic Club this afternoon threw down the gauge of battle to Governor Mitchell and to the state authorities. It announced that it proposed to bring about the prize fight between Corbett and Mitchell despite the opposition of the Governor and the opinion of Attorney General Lamar that the fight would be a violation of the laws of Florida. The club people seem to think they have the law on their side and that Governor Mitchel is acting in a tyrannical and extra judicial manner and they say so in plain words.

WORK FOR ONE THOUSAND.

MCKEESPORT, Jan 8.—About 1,000 men went to work in the W. Dewees Wood company's this morning, after an idleness of about two weeks. Most of the annual repairs have been made, a number of furnaces torn down and rebuilt and the machinery over hauled. The indications are that the resumption will be permanent Every department in the mill is in full blast, except No. 9 mill and the one at the head of Second avenue. The employes and the business men are rejoicing.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

On the stage the tinsel, the glitter, the powder and the paint, show forth the most but step behind the scenes and you will behold the truth. The chorus girls are not all "fancy paints them," but rather what paint themselves; just so with many of the flaming advertisements of so-called "catarrh cures." Get back of the scenes, and they are not cures. The real one, and the only remedy that is a cure, is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Lift the curtain, and you will find the naked truth to be, that this Remedy is the one that cures the worst cases of Catarrh in the Head, and no mistake. It is also a remedy in all catarrh of the Throat, etc.

UNSUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT.

HOMESTEAD, Pa. January 9.—In the 23-inch mill of the Carnegie works the experiment of rolling six inch be ms from aluminum for government vessels is being tried. The first beam was rolled yesterday but was not altogether satisfactory. The aluminum was heated just hot enough to char a pine board and then submitted to the rolls. In the second pass it collared on the rolls and broke ten boxes, and the experiment was postponed until later in the week.

A MURDERER CAUGHT.

WILKES-BARRE, Jan 9.—It is stated here to-night in police circles that William Wilburne has been arrested at Roanoke. Virginia, He is the man who murdered Contractor John Johnson on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, at Hanover, on October 23d last and since then he has been lost sight of.

Detectives Whalen and O'Brien left here for Richmond, Virginia, to-day to get the proper authority for extradition. The prisoner will then be brought here for trial.

STATE BASE BALL LEAGUE.

SCRANTON, Jan. 9.—Secretary Diddlebock sent word here to-day that a meeting of the Pennsylvania State Base Ball League will be held in Scrantan on January 16. At that time the teams that constitute the league will be decided upon. Wilkes-Barre promises a team for the State League. The old base ball association there favors the Eastern League but a division has arisen among the enthusiasts and the State League people control the grounds.

HE RECOGNIZED COUGHLIN.

Frank Bardeen Says He Saw the Detective on the Wagon Bearing Cronin's Body.

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—In the Coughlin trial to-day the attorneys for the prosecution gave out that they would spring a sensation in the testimony of Frank Bardeen, of Otsego. Mich. It is said that Bardeen will testify to having seen Coughlin with the wagon, supposed to be bearing Dr. Cronin's body, near Edgewater the night of the doctor's disappearance. Nothing was vouchsafed as to why Bardeen had not previously been heard from.

Bardeen claims to have known Coughlin for two years prior to the murder of Dr. Cronin, and declares that he could not possibly have been mistaken in his man.

He was standing in the doorway of the electric light plant and turned on a light to see the wagon as it went by. He saw Coughlin distinctly and the big detective made a spring around the wagon, putting it between himself and the light. Bardeen was in Chicago at the time of the trial of Coughlin, Burke, O'Sullivan and the others. He did not tell his story to the state officials because he was afraid of losing his position if he left work to testify, and the words he told his wife of the incident made her so nervous and apprehensive for his safety in case he took the stand that the engineer determined to keep quiet.

In 1890 after the trial and its surroundings had passed from public notice, Bardeen told his whole story for the first time. The story was told to the state's attorney, who has been endeavoring for a long time to locate Bardeen. When found he came very unwillingly, declaring that he did not wish to be mixed up in the case. Yesterday morning he found the following note scrawled on a piece of paper and thrust under his door.

"Frank Bardeen—If you testify against Dan Coughlin you will be sorry. Don't forget what I say. C."

Bardeen is now being guarded by detectives. He is a highly-educated man and in intellect is much superior to the majority of witnesses for the prosecution.

AN IMPERATIVE DUTY.

What greater duty is possible than the care of our health? Until recently it has been impossible for persons living at a distance from large cities to obtain the best medical advice without great expense. This is now obviated so that the poorest persons, in any part of the land, may consult the great medical authority on nervous and chronic diseases, free of charge, and without leaving their homes. Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th Street, New York, the most successful specialist in curing all nervous and chronic diseases has lately adopted the plan of giving the sick everywhere consultation and advice by letter correspondence, free of charge.

Write him a description of your complaint and he will return you an exact explanation of your disease, with advice as to its cure, entirely free of charge. He gives most careful and explicit attention to all letters and will make your case so plain to you that you cannot fail to understand exactly what ails you. Dr. Greene is the discoverer of that wonderful cure, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. He uses nothing but harmless vegetable remedies in his treatment. What sufferer can resist such an opportunity as this to regain health and strength? Write him about your complaint and you will never regret it.

JOHN QUICKLY EXTEMPORIZED FIVE TOW BAGS.

This is a meaningless sentence, but it contains all the letters of our alphbet. Five of these letters spell "woman," and large numbers of women believe in the virture of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a strictly vegetable compound, for her use only, and an unfailing cure for the many ills that beset her. It recuperates wasted strength, restores the functions to a normal condition, and fits her to bear and rear healthy offspring; promotes digestion purfies the blood, and give activity to the bowels and kidneys. In a word, it is woman's cure and safeguard. Guaranteed to give satisfaction, or its price, ($1.00) refunded.

The General Freight Department of the Central Railroad Company of Pennsylvania gives out the following:—

Hereafter the through Phiadelphia & Reading Railroad freight car from Willow and Noble Streets Station, Philadelphia, will be closed and send forward promptly each day at four o'clock P. M. It has been found necessary to take this action that the car may be forwarded in time to make all connections and reach Bellefonte early the following afternoon. If this is made known to shippers in Philadelphia, patrons of the Central Railroad of Penn'a. will find their goods promptly delivered as scheduled. j 9-5t.

IT IS NOW ALL RIGHT.

Tuesday's Lock Haven Democrat says: In response to the telegram sent him by the school board, Architect Cole, of Bellefonte arrived in this city yesterday. In company with Contractor Tate and the building and repair committee, Mr. Cole visited the First Ward school building. The points of difference relative to the work not being done in accordance with the specifications were satisfactorily adjusted. The building will be pushed rapidly to completion so as to be ready for occupancy on February 1.

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING.

The annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian church was held in the chapel at 8.30 o'clock Tuesday evening. When asked this morning whether there was a large turnout and what had been done, a prominent church member replied, "There was an unusually large number of ladies and children present and about a dozen men. As to what we done, we adopted the trustees' report showing the usual indebtedness and passed the usual resolutions as to how to raise the money to pay it, which, however, always fails to raise it."

The above answer doubtless contains the gist of all that was done in as few words as it is possible to express it. However, to go into particulars, the report shows a balance due for current expenses of $775.66; for repairs and improvements, $1,776.00; a total indebtedness of $2,551.66.

Trustees Jas. Schofield and J. G. Heylmun declining re-election Messrs. Frank McCoy and F. H. Thomas were elected trustees to serve three years. Resolutions expressing sympathy with Mr. E. C. Humes, who is the church treasurer, on his present severe illness, were adopted and the meeting adjourned.

FUNERAL OF MISS BOWER

The funeral of Miss Susanna Bower, who died in Unionville on Saturday, occurred on Tuesday morning from the home of her sister, Mrs. Arrista Lucas, in Bush's Hollow. Services were held in the Advent church at that place. Rev. George Warren, the Methodist minister of Milesburg, officiated, and preached a very able sermon, choosing for his text the following:

"I heard a voice from Heaven saying, blessed are the dead who die in the Lord, for they rest from their labors and their deeds do follow them."

The text was very appropriate to the life of the deceased, who was one of the most conscientious christian ladies possible to find. She was a member of the M. E. church and also of the Christian Endeavor Society. The latter attended the funeral in a body and presented a most beautiful and appropriate floral offering. The deceased's sister, Miss Rebecca Bower, of York, Pa., was present. The sons of Mr. Riley Pratt and A. J. Griest acted as pall bearers. Interment was made in the Advent cemetery.

AN AFTERNOON TEA.

One of the most important society events that has taken place in Bellefonte for some time occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris, on Howard street, Tuesday afternoon between the hours of three and five o'clock when their only daughter, Miss Lydia T. Harris, entertained her lady friends at high tea. The parlors were most beautifully decorated, in pink and green, and the display of handsome flowers and hot-house plants was most profuse. The tables looked very pretty and were arranged in a manner that spoke volumes for the aesthetic taste of the fair hostess and her young lady assistants.

Misses Emily Harris, Louisa Harper and Sarah Malin, as waiters, dressed in charming costumes, glided like fairies from one to another serving the delectable beverage that was both refreshing and extremely delicious. Altogether fifty-three of Miss Harris' lady friends availed themselves of her invitation and were present to enjoy her hospitality.

THEY WANT A BOARD OF TRADE.

The citizens of Osceola have just organized a board of trade with a view of booming the town. Philipsburg should do likewise, and no time should be lost in effecting the organization.—Philipsburg Journal.

Yes, they are great things to have in a town. Bellefonte has had one now for about six months or so and already we have had a banquet and—and—well, and a whole lot of meetings without a quorum. Come over and see how Bellefonte's Board works.

BOUGHT OUT M'CARGAR.

We take pleasure to-day in making the announcement that deputy-sheriff George B. Crawford has purchased the pool and billiard rooms and cigar store of Mr. J. S. McCargar, on Allegheny street, and that he will hereafter conduct the same. We are glad Mr. Crawford has chosen to locate with us and at the same time secured such a profitable business stand. Here's success to you, George,

TO FREE PRENDERGRST.

A Crank Commissioned to Release the Assassin of Mayor Harrison.

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—A crank, carrying a huge revolver and who said he was commissioned by the Deity to do good, appeared at the county jail to-day and asked to see Prendergast, the condemned assassin. "Five minutes' talk with Prendergast is all I want," said the crank, "and he will walk out of prison a free man." His request was refused, and then pointing at his weapon he said he would commit murder if the Lord ordered him to do so. He was promptly arrested and taken to a station-house, where he said his name was Fred Names.

Prendergast demanded to-day that the death-watch be removed from his cell. "He annoys me," the prisoner said," and there is no need of his being there, for I won't hang, I want him taken away." The request was refused and Prendergast resumed his sullen silence.

Names said the killing of Mayor Harrison was in answer to a prayer asking for it that he had made twenty-four hours before the shooting occurred. He said Prendergast was consequently innocent. Names came to Chicago from a farm near Ottawa, Mich., in July last. He made speeches at the Lake Front during the meetings of the unemployed last summer, and had frequently attracted attention in Michigan by holding several meetings in country churches there. He is without education, and was poorly clad when arrested. He will be held at the Dentention hospital for an examination as to his sanity.

GALUSHA THE MAN.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 3.—The Pennsylvania Republicans met in convention here to-day. It was exactly 12.15 p. m. when Chairman Packer called the convention to order. The hall was well filled, but the delegates were not prompt in appearing, and the machinery was put in motion before more than half of them arrived. When Mr. Magee came in, somewhat late, there was considerable applause from the floors and gallaries. The call for the convention was read, after which the roll of delegates was called, showing a full attendance, with a number of substitutes. All the officers and the committe appointed at the last convention were retained except the sergeant-at-arms, Howard H. Hartranft, of Harrisburg, having been substituted for Major John B. Lockart, of Philadelphia.

In stating the object of the call of the convention Chairman Packer eulogized the memory of the late General William Lilly.

Mr. Magee introduced a resolution on the death of General William Lilly, which was passed by a standing vote. Mr. Magee then offered the resolutions, which had been prepared by the committee, instead of the usual platform.

The convention adopted the platform amid considerable enthusiasm.

After the applause had subsided, the chairman called for nominations for congressman-at-large. Ex-Attorney General Palmer came forward and placed the name of Galusha A. Grow in nomination.

Jeremiah J. Snyder, of Allentown, named ex-Congressman James S. Biery, of Lehigh. William K. Stevens, of Reading, seconded the nomination. Mr. Biery then stepped to the front of the platform and withdrew his name in favor of Mr. Grow.

Mr. Snyder moved that the nomination be made by acclamation. Chris Magee seconded the motion. The nomination of Mr. Grow was then made by acclamation and Senator Lyon, of Allegheny, Jeremiah Snyder, of Allentown, and David Martin, of Philadelphia, were appointed a committee to inform him of his nomination.

HASTINGS' BOOM.

A dispatch from Harrisburg, published in this mornings Altoona Tribune, has the following to say regarding our eminent townsman's chances for the gubernatorial nomination next year: "The next governor of Pennsylvania will be nominated in this city on Wednesday, May 23, when the regular republican state convention will meet, that date having been decided upon by the state committee at its meeting this morning. All the interest now centres in the contest for governor, and the candidates who are here with their booms are fixing up their fences.

"Hastings and Lyon are the names that are written on the wall, and on May 23 next, unless all signs fail, these two gentlemen will be the republican standard bearers in the gubernatorial fight. The Hastings people were on hand early, and the big general was the favorite among all the delegates to the present convention. In fact, no other name was mentioned, and, as one of the political plumbers put it, "he has a lead pipe cinch on the nomination." Hastings is the name heard on every street corner, in every hotel and every other place where politics is discussed. His strength even surprised his own supporters, and there are many predictions that he will not have any opposition in the convention.

"General Hastings was circulating among the delegates before the convention met. In the course of a brief talk he said: "I am a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, and if the reception I have received here counts for anything, I am satisfied I will be nominated and elected."

FINANCIALLY IN A HOLE.

A dispatch from Hollidaysburg says: The hard times condition of the Blair county treasury was not bettered to-day. The local banks here refused to honor the county-orders, and the drafts of the Directors of the poor for the outdoor relief of the poor cannot be cashed. The new County Commissioners are unable to find a record of the outstanding bonds and the actual indebtedness of the county is not known.

WOMAN AT A HOTEL.

In ordering a dinner on the European plan at a hotel you choose only what you wish to pay for, but you should observe the proper order of service, omitting such courses as you do not desire, writes Mrs. Lyman Abbott in the January Ladies' Home Journal. It is a good plan to have the bill of fare sent to your room, and to make your decision after your consultation there. Having decided what you will take you can send the order to the dining room, stating the hour you wish it served. You must, in that case, be punctual, and you will find your table ready. It is customary, although it is a very unfortunate custom, to give the waiter a fee. If you pay for each meal at the time your waiter will carry the money to the cashier's desk, and when he returns the change you may leave upon the salver the amount you choose to give him. A rate of ten per cent., that is ten cents for every dollar, is considered by habitues of restaurants a reasonable fee.

If the hotel is conducted on the American plan you will generally find it necessary to give your waiter a quarter of a dollar at the end of your first meal if you expect to have good service at the next. It is a shame that servants are not paid fair wages by their employers and the fee system forbidden, but since they are not you must act accordingly. On the American plan you are freer to order a variety, and to take another kind of meat or other dish if the first ordered does not prove satisfactory. You give your order only one or two courses in advance.

If the chambermaid renders you an extra service it is customary to give her a small fee, but often a guest does not see the chambermaid at all. At any good hotel the employes are expected to answer questions and attend to all reasonable requests, and the clerk is supposed to give all required information to strangers.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever, nine cases of ten are caused by catarrah, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE modern army has become so serious a weapon with its magazine guns, its rapid fire, its hail of bullets which kill at two miles and at close range bore through half a dozen men in a mob, that European Governments have become visibly loath to call in troops to settle civil disturbance. If any part of this country were to be in the condition in which Sicily now is, the National Guard, our substitute for a standing army, would long since have been called out. The Italian Government can afford no show of weakness, but it hesitated before these rural riots, just as the German Government hesitated a year ago in Berlin and the Austrian Government two years ago in Vienna. The French Government is coming to be more prompt in the use of force than any in Europe; troops are ordered to fire quicker in England than in France and quicker in this country than in England. One of these days it will be learned that under democratic institutions less mercy is shown mobs, riots and resistance to law than under any other form of government whatever.

WHEN WAR IS DECLARED

Against a man's happiness by his stomach, the enemy may be pacified and brought speedily and easily to terms. That potent regulator of digestion, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, disciplines the rebellious organ thoroughly. Indigestion arises from weakness of the stomach, and the food in it, for want of the power to digest, decomposes and acidfies, giving rise to heartburn, flatulence and pain, besides a multitude of symptoms both changeful and perplexing. But peace soon reigns when the great stomachic is resorted to and used with persistence. Dyspepsia gives rise to morbid discomposure of mind, and even sleepleseness and hypochondria in chronic cases. To the complete dismissal of these the Bitters is fully adequate. Liver complaint, constipation, debility, rheumatism and malaria are completely subdued by this genial medicine.

A NEW AND EASY SWINDLE.

Here is the latest swindle. It has been practiced in a neighboring county. A man, representing himself as the advance agent for a show, drives up to a farm house and agrees to pay the farmer two dollars for the privilege of pasting bills on his barn. The bargain is made, the two dollars paid over and the sharper asks the farmer to sign a receipt for the money. He does so and in a few days finds he has signed a note for $200 which a third party asks him to pay. He says he won't but he does, all the same. He can't get out of it. The note is in the hands of an "innocent" purchaser and the maker of the note can put in no defense.—Indiana Times.

The two tobacco sheds of R. M. Simcox, at Queen's Run, Clinton county, were destroyed by fire a few days ago. This season's crop, with the exception of a few boxes which were carried out, farming implements and two hogs were also burned.

On December 30, while feeding his stock Mr. William H. Miller, who resides near Lavansville, Somerset county, met with a painful accident. He was in the mow pulling loose some hay or straw when he slipped and fell through to the stable beneath, breaking his right leg near the thigh.

The new mining town of Helvetia, out on the western border of Brady township, Clearfield county, has had a rather remarkable era of prosperity ever since its start, less than three years ago. The coal is six feet deep and abounds in almost inexhaustible quantity, and the completion of the new C. & M. road has made an important eastern outlet. The trial coke ovens have proved a decided success, and many new ones will be built in the spring.

Clearfield Republican: J. E. Oswald, collector of Union township, was in town last week settling up his accounts with the commissioners. Mr. Oswald has been the collector for several years and makes an official of which the township may well feel proud. His father, who resided in Germany, held the offices of justice of the peace, tax collector and roadmaster from 1839 up until his death, and his oldest son then succeeded him and is still acting, so that the offices have been held by this one family for over fifty years. A remarkable record for one family, indeed.

Mifflintown Democrat and Register: On Thursday, December 28th, David Wolfgang and James Williams, of Fermanegh township, were working on a steam saw mill, when Mr. Wolfgang accidently slipped and fell against the rapidly revolving saw which cut him through the shoulder blade, cutting it in two pieces, cut off a rib and opened the pleural cavity, cut a groove in the arm and sawing through the elbow joint. Though at first it was thought he could not recover, as the air girgled in and out the pleural cavity where the rib was sawed off, he is on a fair way to recovery.

HOLIDAY CHEER.

The holiday season is close upon us, and every household in the land is prearing for the plum pudding, and the general and feasting and rejoicing. A little good brandy for the mince pie, rum for the pudding, for a little stimulant to keep the spirits up and the cold out, is absolutely necessary for an old time Christmas cheer. One of the most prominent liquor dealers in the country, Mr. Max Klein of Allegheny, Pa., whom we can cheerfully recommend, and who has the reputation for handling only absolutely pure liquors, will sell you the following brands of six years old pure Penn'a Ryes, at $1.00 per full quart or six for $5.00: Bear Creek, Gibson, Guckenheimer, Finch, and Overholt. The famous Silver Age, the finest whiskey in the country at $1.50 and Duquesne, a whiskey distilled from Rye and Malt, at $1.25 per quart, Guckenheimer 4 years old, at 75c per quart, and the Anchor Rye at 50c. TOBACCO HABIT EASILY CURED.

A FEW Testimonials from persons who have been cured by the use of Hill's Tablets.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:
DEAR SIRS—I have been using your cure for tobacco habit, and found it would do what you claim for it. I used five cents worth of the strongest chewing tobacco a day, and from one to five cigars, or I would smoke from ten to forty pipes of tobacco daily. Have chewed and smoked for the last forty years, and two packages of your Tablets cured me and have remained so for 15 months.
E. D. JAMISON, Lima, Ohio.

THE OHIO CHEMICAL CO.:—GENTLEMEN—Some time ago I purchased from your Tablets for Tobacco Habit. I used them as directed, and although I was both a heavy smoker and chewer of tobacco, they did the work in less than three days. I am now entirely free from the habit, and have no desire for tobacco in any form. I cheerfully recommend your Tablets to any one desiring to break off the habit.
Truly yours, [illegible]

—Mr. Isaac Strunk, of Centre Hall, has purchased the Hecla mill property near Hublersburg.

—No wonder it prevails here to a great extent, for almost every arrival in Bellefonte brings the grip with him.

—Mrs. John Odenkirk has purchased the Rishel residence near the railroad station at Centre Hall, and will make it her future home after the first of next April. The price paid was $1,600.

—Sheriff Condo is starting in with a rush of business. On Thursday night he locked up two business houses in Bellefonte and the Watchman this week has three solid columns of sheriff's sale advertisements.

—There is one man in Bellefonte who has already commenced to electioneer for the nomination for sheriff three years hence. Evidently some people believes in taking time by the forelock, and this gentleman is one of them.

—The "Ole Olson" company gave a fine entertainment to a fine audience in Garman's opera house Wednesday evening. This proves the fact that when companies of known reputation come to Bellefonte they are always well patronized.

—The Central railroad company have a large force of men at work cutting away the hill, widening the street and levelling up around the new depot on Water street and, already, the place presents quite a finished and respectable appearance.

—There are about one hundred less marriage licenses granted yearly in Clinton county than there are in Centre. The total number granted in our neighboring county since the law went into effect is 1730, over one thousand less than in Centre county.

—A new custom seems to have been inaugurated, namely, the writing of letters to the local press by newly married couples while away on their wedding tour. The only thing yet to be done to make these letters more interesting is for the parties to tell all the news in as little space as possible.

—At a wedding in Sinking Valley, Blair county the other day, the bride was a Fleck, the bridesmaid and groomsman were Flecks, the officiating minister was a Fleck and over half the guests present were Flecks. If that bridegroom don't get Flecked before he is dead, it will be an everlasting wonder.

—Mr. A. J. Cruse may be a democrat but he is one of the kind who believe in fostering infant industries. With this end in view he has had the end counter taken out of his cigar store in the Bush House and is having a nice little room partitioned off in which he intends starting a junior cigar manufactory.

—Said a county official the other day whose salary is derived from fees, etc., "The entire income of my office last year was but a little over fourteen hundred dollars in regular fees—and the 'pickings.'" "What did the "pickings" amount to?" said a bystander. "Oh, about eighteen hundred."

—Tuesday evening a young girl, representing herself as being from Altoona, created quite a little stir among the Williamsport police by her innocent (?) ways, but when the chief returned, after a long trip for the purpose of befriending her, she was non est. Of course, this is not surprising, if it was an Altoona girl.

—Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, superintendent of public instruction, has decided that free text-books furnished at the expense of the various school districts of the commonwealth are for the sole use of the children in attendance upon the public schools of their respective districts and that boards of directors have nothing whatever to do officially with private or subscription schools.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble. The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

THE BELLEFONTE ACADEMY.

Vacation days will be over on Monday, January 8, when the Bellefonte Academy resumes work in all its departments for the new year. The attendance on the fall term was larger than it has been in many years, but more students have announced their intention of enrolling themselves at the Academy on Monday, so that the roll books for the new year will show an increased attendance over all other years. This is indeed an encouraging fact to all interested. A few changes have been made during the holidays by reason of this increased prosperity. The young men's room hereafter will be the large and commodious room in the North wing, while the principal will have his mathematical room in the room formerly occupied by the young men's department. The young ladies' and the primary rooms will be the same as in the fall terms.

These changes will be most advantageous all around. Any students who have any idea of ever attending the Academy should start in on Monday and get their foundation laid early for their future work. Backward students are given special attention at all times and all students are advanced as rapidly as their work warrants without any waste of time. The attendance of country students is already large, but it will undoubtedly be increased in the future by reason of the increased railroad facilities. The studies in the Academy are arranged to suit the railroad schedules, so that students can come on the morning trains and attend all classes before the afternoon trains go out.

BRAKEMAN M'KELVY HURT.

An accident which had serious results for Martin F. McKelvey, a brakeman on the Pittsburg division, and whose home is at Martha Furnace, on the Bald Eagle Valley road, occurred about 4.30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

At the time stated and when the train on which he was engaged was nearing Bennington, he was in the act of passing from one car to another when the coupling parted and he was thrown to the track, alighting upon his head, breaking his nose, knocking out a number of his teeth and having his face generally lacerated. This was not the worst, however, as his left foot fell across the track, and the wheels passing over it, causing it to be badly crushed.

Soon after the accident occurred the injured man was placed on engine 1540 and brought to the station, in Altoona, being taken from there to the hospital in the ambulance. Upon his arrival there his left foot was amputated and his other injuries given proper taeatment. Last night he was resting as comfortably as could be expected under the circumstances and it is hoped that he will in due time recover from his unpleasant experience.

DEATH OF MRS. RIDER.

The Warriorsmark correspondent of the Tyrone Herald says:—Mrs. Catharine E. Rider died at her home in Warriorsmark last Friday evening at 10, from the effects of the grip. She was aged 62 years and 18 days. Interment at Gatesburg on Sunday at 12 o'clock. She was a faithful member of the Lutheran church for a long period of years. Surviving her are three sons and three daugters: William, of Tow Hill; George, of Gatesburg; and James of Stormstown; Emma, of Bellwood; Sarah, of Marengo; and Emma, who made her home with her mother, but has left town and will make her home with her sisters.

A SCHOOL CENSUS WANTED.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Shaeffer will recommend in his forthcoming annual report for the school year ending the first Monday in June, which is now in course of preparation for publication, that a school census be taken to ascertain how many children there are in the State out of school that should be attending school. During the present year he will make a careful study of the school census in the different States and Territories of the Union with a view of devising a feasible plan for taking the census in Pennsylvania, which he will submit to the next Legislature in his annual report for 1894.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

On Tuesday the directors of Patrons fire insurance association of this county held their annual meeting at the Brandt House. The election of officials for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, James A. Kellar, of Centre Hall; Vice President, I. S. Frain, of Marion twp.; Secretary, C. Dale, Jr., Spring; Treasurer, W. A. Kerr, of Centre Hill. The above gentlemen served last year and were unanimously re-elected on account of the able manner in which they conducted the company's affairs in the past year.

FOR TAX COLLECTOR.

The time is not far off now when the people of Bellefonte will have to elect the usual number of borough officials. So far there seems to be few candidates for any of the offices to be filled. Indeed, about the only one we have thus far heard of is John Kline, for tax collector. Mr. Kline is a careful, conscientious business man and, laying aside politics, we know of no one in the borough who would make a more efficient officer than just Mr. Kline.

—The huge tallow candle placed in the window of Harry Schrever's carpet store and which was lighted on Thursday before Christmas burned out Wednesday afternoon at 1.10 o'clock, after having furnished light 193 hours and ten minutes, without even a snuffing. There were many guesses as to the time it would burn but the successful guesser was Mr. Thomas Moore, the jeweler, who estimated that it would burn 200 hours. Of course Tom will now get the handsome Turkish rug offered as a prize to the one guessing the nearest correct time.

CAN THIS BE TRUE;

The Centre Democrat says: People living in the vicinity of Axe Mann informed the writer that a small 13 year-old daughter of David Shawley, of that place, is being abused and neglected by her parents. It related that the poor child is not provided with sufficient clothes to decently cover her body. Oftimes during the past month she has been seen tramping over the ice and snow in her bare feet, or with only old rags tied about them as best she could find to protect herself from the cold. Her garments are mere tatters and dirty rags. In addition to this it is asserted that the father has choked the poor child until black and blue marks could be seen for several days about her throat. At one time portions of her hair were torn from her head by her parents. The poor child's mother is dead and her step-mother is responsible for her neglected condtion, as the other children of the family are properly cared for. These statements were related in our office by reliable persons from Axe Mann who inquired as to what course should be pursued by them, as they will no longer tolerate such inhuman and brutal conduct.

If such a state of affairs exist the overseers of the poor should, at once, provide a decent home for this unfortunate little girl, and the parents should be hauled before the Quarter Sessions and, if guilty, severely punished. Our District Attorney should investigate this case at once. Decency demands it.

THE BELLEFONE POSTOFFICE.

The commission of Postmaster James A. Fiedler, of Bellefonte, will expire on January 21. There are at least six applicants more or less prominently spoken of as Mr. Fiedler's successor and it is very hard to even guess who the lucky man may be. Neither is there any telling when the appointment will be made. It might be at once, and it might not be for a month or even longer.

During the year 1893 the receipts at the Bellefonte office, although a number of our biggest industries were closed down, were about as large as they averaged in the preceding years. They were as follows:

From Jan. 1 to March 31		$2,860.16
" April 1 "	June 30	2,151.58
" July 1 "	Sept. 30	2,321.75
" Oct. 1 "	Dec. 31	2,525.14
A total of		$9,860.63

By the above it can easily be seen what a falling off in the receipts there was after the first quarter. Since that time there has been a steady, though small, increase. The closing of the postoffice fiscal year is March 31, 1894, and, in order to secure the continuance of the free delivery system in Bellefonte, the receipts during the present quarter will have to aggregate three thousand dollars, or $1,000 a month. Now this is not idle talk, but facts. Therefore, if the business men of Bellefonte desire the free delivery system to prevail, it will be well for them to throw all the revenue into the postoffice they possibly can from this date to March 31st, otherwise there might be a sudden cessation of a system which has proved very convenient as well as advantageous to all.

A HUNGARIAN ROBBED.

The Williamsport Sun says: Among the passengers who stepped off the Beech Creek passenger train upon its arrival in this city at 8 o'clock last night was quite an intelligent looking, well dressed young Hungarian, who came from Snow Shoe and was enroute for the home of his parents in his native country. As the next train south would not leave until 11 o'clock, he seated himself on a bench near the Front street entrance to the gentleman's waiting room of the Pine street station and soon fell asleep. When aroused by the attaches of the depot so as to continue his journey, he discovered that his pockets had been picked of a gold watch and $45 in cash, which was in bills of various denominations, rolled up and occupying a place in a little pocket of his vest. His railroad ticket in the upper pocket on the left side of the latter garment was not taken.

LITTLE NUGGET COMING.

Geo. Mandrobick, agent for Little Nugget Co., was in the city to day and reports his company doing a big business so far this season, more than they expected. "Little Nugget" is an attraction known by most all the amusement loving public as being the best of its kind on the stage to-day, and one can always rely upon seeing a first class performance. Herbert Cawthorn, as Barney O'Brady the Irish school teacher, still heads the list of fun makers and is ably supported by Miss Ray Eldridge, a charming soubrette; Orient Anson, the French dancer, Susie Forrester, as Mrs. Simpkins, a woman of few words; Burt Thayer, the whistler and impersonator; Geo. Price, the mandolin soloist, and others of equal merit.

DEATH OF MRS. SANDS.

Who Expires Suddenly on Friday Evening at 9 O'clock.

Death has again visited Bellefonte, this time taking from our midst one of the best known and a most esteemed lady in the person of Mrs. Maria F., wife of Mr. John H. Sands, who died suddenly on Friday evening about nine o'clock. Mrs. Sands has not been enjoying the best of health for some time, but the physician apprehended no danger. Previous to this time Mrs. Sands had suffered with a stroke of paralysis, but had apparently recovered therefrom. On Friday evening she was suddenly seized with a hemorrhage of the brain, a direct result of paralysis, and the physician, on being summoned, did all he could, but without avail. Mrs. Sands sank rapidly and died within a couple of hours.

One of the saddest parts of this event was the fact that Mr. Sands is absent from home, attending the funeral of a sister at White Haven, whither he went on Wednesday, never anticipating the sad news that would again call him home.

Deceased was born in Wurtemberg, Germany, in 1819, and is therefore about 74 years of age. She with her husband came to Bellefonte about thirty-five years ago. Mr. Sands went into business here and at one time conducted one of the best bakeries in this part of Pennsylvania. In this work he was most ably assisted by his wife. By diligence and careful management they accumulated quite a competence and for ten years or more have lived a retired life. They had but one child, Miss Louisa, now married to Mr. John Lane, and living on Linn street, this place. She was with her mother when she died and, being alone, the sudden death has naturally fallen heavily on her.

WHERE THEY ARE.

Since the retirement of the old county officials it is a curiosity to some of their friends where they keep themselves—at least some of them. John A. Rupp, ex Register, is still hard at work in the register's office, closing up a lot of unfinished business and initiating George Washington Rumberger into the intricacies of the routine work of that office. And Mr. Rupp can just show George how to do it, for a more careful and concise official it would be hard to find. During his six years term in that office he was not reversed in any decision of importance made, nor did he make any mistake, while his records have been kept in first-class order.

As to Treasurer Gramley, he, of course, is closing up his business and giving Mr. Miles a few lessons as to how to keep the county funds—not keep them for himself, but for the people. And then Mr. Gramley had an eye to business and, knowing that he could not be treasurer forever, had embarked in the grocery business on Allegheny street, and he now spends considerable of his time there making business hum and things in general lively for his competitors in trade. We are glad that Mr. Gramley intends remaining in Bellefonte for he is a model citizen in every respect.

As to Sheriff Ishler, he is the only one of the trio who seems to have retired to private life. Moving, as he did, out on Linn street, he is now taking life easy in a good rest after his trials and tribulations in the Sheriff's office, and it is seldom that his friends see him around the court of justice or the place of punishment, as of old. It is not yet known whether Mr. Ishler will made Bellefonte his future home or not, but its hardly likely. During the past year Mr. Ishler purchased a farm in Pennsvalley and it is probable he will move onto that.

As to Deputy Sheriff Crawford he is still around town and, if he can find a suitable and favorable opening, he will embark in business and make Bellefonte his future home.

—The Millheim Journal says: Prothonotary W F Smith gave a social dinner party for some of his friends and neighbors on New Year's day and quite a number of guests had assembled at his residence to partake of the feast prepared for them. By the way, we understand that Mr. Smith intends moving to Bellefonte this spring, a move which his many friends here very much regret, as William made a first-class citizen and a very kind neighbor.

FARQUHAR DECLINES.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 5.—A. B. Farquahar, the wealthy York manufacturer, has concluded not to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman-at-large to succeed the late Gen. Lilly. He sees no chance of election, and is not inclined to make the sacrifice that would be necessary to conduct an aggressive and continuous campaign. He was seen to-night and said he "could not decline a thing that had never been offered him. I have not the slightest reason to suppose Mr. Harrity or anyone else has seriously thought of me in that connection. I am not a candidate for that or any other office. I have no desire to enter into a political contest. As for the result, they might as well nominate me for the chair of St. Peter."

BLED TO DEATH.

JEANNETTE, Pa., January 5.—A young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boast, of Warren township is dead as the result of a cut in the upper gum, received in a fall. The wound bled so freely that Dr. T. L. Armitage was called to stop the flow of blood. A remarkable fact in this connection is that a brother of the deceased died two years ago from the same cause while two brothers of the boy's mother also bled to death. Physicians say all these were afflicted with a rare but fatal disease, known in medical science as bleeders disease the name being given to it because all persons afflicted with the ailment are almost certain to bleed to death upon receiving a slight cut.

—Mr H I Bouse has sold his drug store in Snow Shoe and is now rusticating in Tyrone.

—Since June 6, 1893, there have been 369 births and 161 deaths in Clinton County.

—A number of the grip patients around town are improving, while others are still very bad.

—Hon. Grant Herring, of Bloomsburg, was on Monday appointed collector of the twelfth internal revenue district.

—Did you see the new moon Monday evening? It lay very far south in the heavens, which fact, weather prognosticators say, is a sure sign of warmer weather.

—The engagement of Mr. John Hogan Furst, son of Mr. A S Furst, of Ceadar Springs, to Miss Miriam Scott, daughter of Mr. Jacob Scott, of Lock Haven, is announced.

—The ladies of the Episcopal church will hold a parish tea at the rectory tomorrow (Thursday) evening, to which all members and friends of the congregation are invited.

—Our thanks are due the officials of the Central railroad for a Shipper's Guide Book and Directory of the Reading railroad, a very useful volume, presented to us this morning.

—Sydney Bartlet, one of the employes of the Pennsylvania railroad company who was suspended pending better times, has accepted a position on the Central railroad of Pennsylvania.

—As a further equipment the Central railroad company have added a new desk-set long distance telephone instrument to the many conveniences already in their offices for the special use of train dispatcher Walsh.

—The world owes no able bodied man a living who does not earn it, despite all the resolutions to that effect which the tramps may pass unanimously in mighty conventions around fires built of honest people's stove wood.

—We notice that our townsman Mr S S Lyon, was on Tuesday elected a director of the Tyrone Mining and Manufacturing Company, a concern which owns, and at one time operated, the Juniata ore mines in this county.

—The surveying corps which has been engaged on the Central railroad of Pennsylvania for the last six months, completed all their work on Tuesday, and Mr. Kline Woodring, who was a very efficient member of the same, has returned to his home in this place.

Hazel, caught fire by the fall of a coal oil lamp, and was burned to the ground with all the contents. The loss will be upward of five thousand dollars, on which there was a partial insurance.

—At last the "Thermo Appliance Company," mention of which was made in this paper a month or so ago, has been fully organized with Gen. James A. Beaver as president; John M. Dale, secretary; J. K. McFarlane treasurer, and William Jenkins, Howard Lingle and William Grauer as directors. Its purpose is to manufacture, at Jenkins & Lingle's foundry, the Thermo Oil-Gas burner for stoves, heaters, etc. We wish the new company success.

PUBLICLY INSTALLED.

A private Installation, A Camp Fire and a Big Supper.

About forty members of Gregg Post, No 95, Deft. of Penna. G. A. R., assembled in their comfortable post room on High street Saturday evening to witness the installation of the following officers to serve during the year 1894:

Commander—Thos. Donachy.
S. V. C.—Wm. T. Fitzgerald.
J. V. C.—Monroe Armor.
Surgeon—D. C. Walters.
O. of D.—J. I. Curtin.
Chaplain—David Bartley.
Q. M.—Wm. Jones.
Officer of Guard—John Bryan.
Ordinance Officer—John Bryan.
Trustee—Wm. Maitland.
Del. to Encampment—S. H. Williams.
Alternate—W. T. Fitzgerald.

The post room was beautifully decorated with flags and bunting and the exercises were very impressive. Following the installation a camp fire was held and brief addresses were made by Ex-Governor Curtin, Hon. John G. Love, Rev. Zehner, Commander Thomas Donachy, and Comrades S. H. Williams, D. S. Dunham, Samuel B. Miller and John C. Miller.

At the conclusion of the speech making the folded doors were thrown open between the post room and reception room and in the latter the old veterans saw a sight that made their mouths water and tears come in their eyes. Two long tables, literally bending under the weight of good things found upon them, among which was to be seen the dear old "hard tack," the soldier's boon companion in days of war. The order was given "right, face; forward, march," and the dexterity displayed and the precision with which they marched and surrounded—not the enemy, but the tables—showed plainly that they had not yet forgotten how to make a "charge." The bill of fare included oysters, raw and stewed; cold ham, slaw, pickles, hard tack and coffee, white bread and butter, crackerss, sweet-meats, cake, etc, an ideal meal, and the same was served by the following ladies: Mrs. S. H. Williams, Mrs. Henry Yeager, Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Mrs. J. C. Miller, Mrs. John Noll, Mrs. F. P. Greene, Mrs. E. H. Barry, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Gehrett, Mrs. Eckenroth, and Miss Leona Maitland. It was well past ten o'clock by the time every one had partaken and were ready to go home, but it is safe to say that the "retreat" was made in better spirits than ever accompanied a "fall-back" in the days of long ago.

Quartermaster William Jones was head caetrer, that is, he furnished the supplies, and every comrade voted him a royal entertainer. This, we presume, partly accounts for the way his comrades always elect Mr. Jones Quartermaster, they have an eye on the larder, and when men are hungry "Billy" was never known to flinch.

THE DEPUTY SHERIFF.

Mr. J. Calvin Weaver is the first deputy sheriff in Centre county in whom is vested all the power, rights and privileges, possessed by the sheriff himself. Heretofore the deputies were always sworn in by the prothonotary. Under a law passed and which was signed by Governor Beaver in May, 1887, the sheriff makes his appointment in writing and the deputy is sworn in by the Recorder, and then the paper is placed on record. Under this law the deputy can be discharged only by a written revocation entered for record.

Heretofore there was certain business in the Sheriffs office that could only be done by that functionary himself; such as the return of writs serving jury notices, etc., Now, under the new law, the same power and right is vested in the deputy to perform the same in the absence of the sheriff, or because of any other inability to personally perform the duty. To the deputy sheriff is also given the right to hang a man, a pleasure (?) they never heretofore enjoyed.

DEATH OF SUSANNA BROWER.

Word comes from Unionville of the sudden death in that place on Saturday evening, about 5.30 o'clock, of Miss Susanna L. Brower, a maiden lady aged between 35 and 40 years, and who for the past eight years or more has been a member of the household of Mr. Riley Pratt. Miss Brower had been enjoying her usual good health until last Wednesday evening when she was taken with the grip. Always of a somewhat delicate constitution this harrowing disease attacked her with unusual severity, and from the first she grew worse and worse until death came to relieve her sufferings Saturday evening.

Miss Brower is spoken of as a most exemplary lady; always first in all kinds of church work and doing good, she devoted the best years of her life working in the cause of Christianizing the world.

WORK FOR THEIR BOARD.

A large number of men have applied at lumber camps in Clinton and adjacent counties for employment, and in several instances have offered to work for their board, and without additional pay. It seems a great pity that in a country like this men are forced to seek employment on such terms. A proprietor of one of these camps said that it was hard for him to turn men away, especially those who were in such straits as to beg for work simply for their board.

—This does not seem very much like Hicks' weather. His prognostications said severe cold and storms from the 6th to the 8th, and if this is the kind of "cold and storms" he meant, we will be glad to take the same kind all winter. Hicks, you're becoming a failure; as big a failure as all your predecessors, whose names are now almost forgotten. Unless you can do better than this we will be compelled to renounce you and once again pin our faith on the groundhog and goosebone.

DEZENDORF—WHITTAKER.

The young ladies of Bellefonte will learn with surprise, and the young gentlemen with regret, of the marriage of Miss Stella Marie Whittaker to Mr. William Edwin Dezendorf, which happy event occurred in Lock Haven Friday evening, January 5th, at the M. E. parsonage, Rev. Charles S. Ling, the pastor, officiating.

Although, for some time past, it has been suspected among their intimate acquaintances that a wedding was near at hand, yet no one imagined the day so near. But when Miss Stella and Mr. Dezendorf departed on the 4.30 train east Friday afternoon, wearing such looks of blissful contentment, it was a sure sign that something of more than the ordinary importance was going to be done. And so it proved.

On their arrival in Lock Haven, they were driven to the hotel and the would-be groom repaired to the Register's office and secured the necessary marriage license. After supper they were driven to the M. E. parsonage where the ceremony was performed which united them as man and wife "until death do ye part." They both returned to Bellefonte on Saturday on the early train and very few af her friends yet know of her changed condition.

The bride is the handsome and accomplished, as well as the oldest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Whittaker, of High street. A young lady of most genial disposition, well versed in all the duties that go to the makeup of a good wife and house-keeper, and will be a fit help-mate for the man of her choice. Mr. Dezendorf is from New York, having been born and raised in that city. Although he frequently visited Bellefonte it is only about two months ago that he came here to reside permanently. Those who know him speak very highly of his gentlemanly qualifications. Mr. and Mrs. Dezendorf will reside in Bellefonte and will go to housekeeping some time next week in rooms above McCalmont & Co's store, which are now being fitted up for their occupancy. We extend heartiest congratulations.

AT STATE COLLEGE.

A correspondent writes us from State College: Business, which was very dull here, has now somewhat revived since the professors and students have returned and the Spring term at the College opened. A few new students were admitted to all classes at the college at the beginning of term, and about forty new students are here taking the special course in the scientific and practical art of creamery and butter making at the Experimental station. The new Merchanical and Electrical Engineering building is fast nearing full completion and equipment, and already a large number of studente are taking the scientific and practical course in this department

The new hotel is being pushed rapidly forward and will be ready for business. in the shape of boarders and lodgers, by the beginning of the next College year. Very few other improvements are now going on in the village. There are a number of cases of grip among the students as well as in private families, but so far none have proven fatal or been serious. There have been few deaths in this place and little sickness during the past year, which proves the very healthy location of Pennsylvania's greatest College.

TROUT FRY FOR DISTRIBUTION.

The Pennsylvania Commissioners of Fisheries, will have on hand for distribution, after March 1st, about 3,250,000 trout fry, and announcement is made that applications for this species of fish for planting in suitable waters will now be received. These applications should be made to the following commissioners, who will furnish blanks for filling out: Henry C Ford, 1823 Vine street, Philadelphia; H. C. Demuth, Lancaster; John Gay, 1020 Vine street, Philadelphia; (for the western part of the state): S. B. Stillwell, Scranton; Louis Streuber, Erie; F. W. Ebel, Harrisburg. Heretofore the applications for fish fry, only required the signature of the commissioner to whom they were made, but in the future, under a rider to an act of the last legislature, they must be endorsed by the senator or representative of the district in which the application is made.

FOUR ECLIPSES THIS YEAR.

During the year 1894 there will be four eclipses, two of the sun and two of the moon. An annual eclipse of the sun will occur April 5th, and a total eclipse September 28th, but both will be invisible in any part of America. A partial eclipse of the moon will occur March 21st, but will not be generally visible in the United States. Another partial eclipse of the moon will take place on September 14th and 15th and will be visible in all parts of America.

—The school directors of Tyrone have notified the tobacco dealers of that town that the law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes, etc., must be observed, and in case of violation of the same by selling to scholars of the school, the offenders will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. Now let us see whether the resolution will be enforced better than the law.

DEATH OF A. J. CRUSE.

The Brittle Thread of Life Suddenly Rent in Twain.

Another of Bellefonte's well known citizens has passed over the dark river of death in the person of Mr. A. J. Cruse, the cigar manufacturer and dealer, which sad event occurred on Tuesday evening about 7 o'clock. For some time past Mr. Cruse has had trouble with his heart and his friends were fearful of the result. Last Saturday evening he was seized with a hemorrhage of the lungs and it was with difficulty that his life was saved at that time. But with prompt and skillful medical attendance, he survived, though left very weak. The attending physician then said if another hemorrhage could be warded off his chances for recovery were all right. Mr. Cruse continued very weak all day Sunday, but Monday and Tuesday he began to improve slowly and especially on Tuesday did he seem so much better.

But ah, fatal illusion! It was only the appearance of greater strength which comes before the final dissolution. On Tuesday evening Mr. Cruse was seized with another hemorrhage and at once sank rapidly until death came to his relief at the hour above named.

Mr. Cruse was a southerner by birth and a cigar maker by occupation. He came to Bellefonte from Baltimore over twenty years ago moving into Mrs. Kane's house on Howard street, where he lived for a number of years. He at once went to work for A. Sternberg, who at that time was running a cigar manufactory. Being an expert at the business Mr. Cruse soon succeeded in establishing a manufactory of his own and from that time on success has been with him until now he was owner of the largest cigar manufacturing establishment in Bellefonte and in addition had considerable property in houses and lots thus leaving a valuable estate to his family

Mr. Cruse leaves to mourn his death a loving wife and five children, four sons and one daughter, namely: Charles H. Andrew J. Jr., Temple G., Mary L., and Wade H., all unmarried and at home. Charles is now of age and the youngest is going on 9 years. In addition to his own family Mr. Cruse is survived by four brothers, John, Elias, George and Charles Cruse, all of whom reside in Baltimore.

The funeral will take place from his late residence on Linn street on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

—Mr. Goodwin is having considerable of a time training the choir boys of the Episcopal church. He succeeds admirably so far as the musical talent is concerned, but when it comes to subduing the mischievious nature of the boys, Mr. Goodwin is at his wits end. The boys have tied him out and tied him in; they fixed doors to fall on him when he went to open them; they would sing high when low was wanted and vice versa. For all this several of the boys have been placed on the retired list and several places in the choir are vacant.

—A large stone Culvert has been built under the Central railroad tracks on the north side of Lamb street, to convey the drain water from off that street safely through to Spring Creek. Another improvement down there is the placing of the arc light, which had been on the station, on a pole at a high elevation, and putting incandescent lights at each corner of the building. A new block signal has also been put up.

J. A. FIEDLER P. M.

—Do not be among those who make it their chief business to stand in the way of others. Such characters are always to be shunned. They do nothing themselves, they do not help others. They do not allow their fellow citizens to be what would otherwise be possible. They simply plant themselves upon the open walk of progress and shake their fists at and obstruct the passage of others along the same

—Mr. Mitchell Gardner, with a large force of workmen and carpenters, are hard at work making a new house out of the old one recently purchased by Mr. Gardner on Spring street. The entire top has been torn off and new second and third stories will be built. When completed Mr. Gardner will have as handsome, comfortable and convenient a home as there is in Bellefonte.

—Hazel Wian, the ten-months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Wian, formerly of this place, but now of Johnstown, died in that city on Thursday of brain fever. The remains were brought to Bellefonte Friday evening and taken to the residence of Mr. William Gehrett, until on Saturday, when they were taken to Pleasant Gap for interment.

—On their way home from a serenading party one night last week Clyde Miller and Frank Furst, of Salona, were attacked by a wild cat but, furiously ringing the sleigh bells frightened the animal away, and they escaped unhurt.

—J. G. Rider, of Gatesburg, this county, well known in Bellefonte, has gone to Los Angeles, California to spend the winter. He writes from San Antonio, Texas, under date of January 2nd. stating that he left home two weeks ago, and has stopped at all important places along the way on the southern coast, going by the way of New Orleans, La.

Mr. A. G. Curtin Roop, of Altoona, is at present in Bellefonte in the interest of a Building and Loan Association. Mr. Roop was at one time professor in the preparatory department at the State College.

Mrs. Geo. A. Walker and son, after spending a few days very pleasantly at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Otto, on East Lamb ssreet, returned to their home in Tyrone on Saturday. On Wednesday Mrs. W. H. Musser, of Milesburg, came to Bellefonte and, in company with her husband, took a look at several vacant houses in this place, finally selecting the house owned by Mr. John P. Harris, No. 113 East Howard street, recently occupied by district attorney Singer. The house was rented and it wont be long now until Mr. Musser will move his family to Bellefonte and thereafter be "one of us," in every respect.

David W. Sellers, Esq., the learned attorney of the Pennsylvania railroad company, who was in Bellefonte on business, departed for his home in Philadelphia Friday evening. Mr. Sellers is a fine-looking gentleman and is as much an innocent admirer of the fair sex as he is an able practitioner of Blackstone. He passed more than one charming compliment on some of Bellefonte's fair ladies, but thought it would take a more able attorney than him to work out the intricate problem of relationship by marriage and intermarriage which exists in Bellefonte. He thinks, as he said, "you're all mixed up."

Ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin, our own "Old War Governor," departed on Monday for a brief sojourn in Philadelphia, and in Tuesday's Times we find the following: Ex-Governor Curtin is one of the remaining remarkable figures of the times. He may be seen any evening in the Stratford Hotel dining room, looking hearty and vigorous, straight as an Indian and alert as a soldier, and his mind is the storehouse of more entertaining reminiscenses than any man now living in this country. All honor to the great war Governor of Pennsylvania who contributed so much to the national permanence, and may he survive to see the probable strange events of another century soon to dawn.

Mr. Edward P. Butts, son of Mr. D. M. Butts, returned on Saturday from a tour of the New England states. While away he visited the city of Springfield, Mass., ostensibly because of its historic renown, but, we are inclined to think, the real motive was to see a charming young lady.

Mr. Frank Naginey and family arrived in Bellefonte on Tuesday. He is now looking around for a good room in which to open up a furniture store and undertaking establishment. His household goods are expected here in a day or so. We welcome Frank back to Bellefonte and hope he will not leave us again.

Cards are out for the marriage, at the hour of high noon, on Tuesday, January 16th, of Miss Lydia Toner Harris, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris, of this place, to Mr. William H. Galway, of Radford, Va. Mr. Galway was for a number of years bookkeeper for the Centre Iron Company, and now fills the responsible position of cashier of the Radford Trust Co. Congratulations are in order.

Mr. George E. Haupt, youngest son of Mr. Isaac Haupt, just returned last Saturday from his visit to the World's Fair. But it must not be supposed that Ed. was sleeping and did not know the fair had closed. Far from it. He was out in the west growing up with the country, as he now seems about ten inches bigger than when he left Bellefonte four months ago. While away he visited many of the important cities of the great west.
